States Canada Not Interested In Bomb Secret

Exchange of Atomic Information By Dominion, U.S. "Satisfactory"

OTTAWA, July 20 (CP).—Acting Prime Minister Howe said today there is an exchange of classified atomic information between Canada and the United States and "we've nothing more to ask for at the moment."

"There is some classified information we don't get," the Cabinet atomic expert told a press conference, "and that includes the bomb . . . We don't want to know about the bomb."

Mr. Howe said Canada has had no connection in any way with the hush-hush meetings in Washington.

But he did reiterate the Government's position that Canada is not interested in manufacturing the bomb and his own statement of some years ago that Canada could make a bomb if she had to.

"Maybe it wouldn't be as good a bomb as the Americans turn out," he smiled, "but it would be a bomb."

Mr. Howe indicated that Canada is satisfied with the present information she gets from the United States.

"ROUTINE" MEETING

As he spoke the Cabinet's top atomic advisers—members of the Atomic Energy Control Board—were meeting at the Chalk River pilot plant, 125 miles north of Ottawa. Mr. Howe said their meeting was "purely routine."

Canada's atomic studies were devoted entirely to peacetime uses of the energy as power and fuel and, in radioisotopes, as instruments for research in the fields of medicine, industry and science.

Canada continued to ship uranium oxide to the United States.

Says U.S. Ignores U.K. Pleas

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., July 20 (INS).—The Soviet Ukraine charged in the United Nations today that the United States has ignored Britain's request for more information on atom bombs.

Vassily A. Tarassenko, representative of the Ukraine, told the 11-nation U.N. Atomic Commission that Britain has had to "swallow this bitter pill."

The Ukrainian charge came on the heels of a proposal to the Atomic Energy Commission by U.S. Representative Frederick Osborn that it suspend atom control discussions until the major powers have found a basis for agreement.

Osborn formally presented a resolution to that effect, blaming Russia for the seemingly-hopeless deadlock.

Fail to Reach Decisions At Hush-Hush Atom Talks

WASHINGTON, July 20 (CP).—High Government and Congressional officials met today for two hours and 45 minutes to discuss the question of sharing United States atomic secrets, but "no conclusions were reached," a statement said.

The statement, issued after the close of the secrecy-shrouded meeting, said:

"The joint (Senate-House) committee on atomic energy met with the Secretary of State, the Secretary of National Defence and the Atomic Energy Commission and General Eisenhower.

"We discussed the nation's foreign relations in the field of atomic energy. No conclusions were reached and none was contemplated at this meeting.

"A future meeting will be held at the call of the chairman after the elapse of sufficient time for further deliberations."

Today's meeting was the second high-level discussion within a week on the question of whether the United States is to let any other country have atomic secrets.

Officially, the extraordinary meeting was called to consider future United States relations with Britain and Canada in the field of atomic energy. The unofficial and undisputed word was that the main question involved whether to share information on postwar bomb designs and production methods.

Britain has announced her intention to make atom bombs, and it is no secret that she would like data on the latest American models and methods.

BULLETINS

Safe Conduct

HONGKONG, July 20 (Reuters) — The Chinese Government today gave the Hongkong tug safe conduct to tow the damaged British freighter Anchises — victim of Nationalist air attacks last month—from Shanghai to Japan.

Government warships will escort the tug part of the way.

Continue Strike

MANCHESTER, England, July 20 (Reuters).—Delegates representing 3,000 freight-yard workers in the Manchester area decided tonight to go on with their "go slow" strike in support of wage demands.

The men have been slowing down operations for the last ten days.

Nine Arrested

OSAKA, Japan, July 20 (INS).—Japanese police were reported tonight to have arrested nine alleged Communists for plastering Osaka walls with posters slurring American troops. The nine will be tried before a U.S. provost court.

Eight-Months-Old Prince Charles Bonnie Lad

—Photographs by British Newsreels from International News Photos

Growing into a fine boy, Prince Charles, now eight months old and second in line of succession to the British Throne, is shown in the top photograph on the lawn with his parents, Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip, at their Summer home at Windlesham Moor. The picture at lower left shows the Duke of Edinburgh tossing his son just as any father likes to play with his baby boy. Photo at lower right is a close-up of Prince Charles.

Victorians to Start on Quest For Body of Famed Explorer

By RAY WORMALD

A search for the body of a famous British officer and explorer who perished in the frozen Arctic wastes more than 100 years ago will get under way tomorrow night (Friday) when two well-known Victorians leave this city on their way to distant King William's Land—thousands of miles from here, and many hundreds of miles north of Hudson Bay.

Conducting what might come to be regarded as one of the most historical searches of modern times will be Sub-Inspector Henry A. Larsen, of the R.C.M.P., of 2440 Central Avenue, and Cpl. S. L. Burton, 1234 Topaz Avenue, who served as chief engineer aboard the famed Arctic patrol vessel St. Roch during her last voyage to the northland.

At the same time the pair will make a routine patrol of the distant area.

FAMED EXPLORER

The body they will be looking for is that of Sir John Franklin, world-famed British explorer of the Arctic, whose two ships—the Erebus and Terror—were last seen in July of 1845. It is presumed his body has been preserved in ice.

That tragic expedition to the northland, the third led by Franklin, commenced from England in May, 1845.

Inspector Larsen and Mr. Burton will leave for Vancouver at midnight tomorrow night, and from that city will travel by rail to Edmonton. From there they will fly to their destination. Cambridge Bay, in the Arctic, will be among their stops, and at an undisclosed point in the northland they will pick up two other members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, and later two or three native Eskimos who will serve as guides during the search.

The party expects to leave the Arctic immediately before the freeze-up in November.

MAY STAY TILL SPRING

If unable to depart at that time, they and their party will have to remain until the Spring thaw. The search party will have special equipment for the long voyage.

Through information received from Eskimos of the area, the men have what is reported to be "a rough idea" of where to conduct their search for Franklin's body. It is posible there will be remains of others of the 1845 expedition to be found.

SUB-INSPECTOR HENRY A. LARSEN, R.C.M.P.

Plans for the search trip have been in the making for many months. The voyage was kept a closely-guarded secret by the few having anything to do with it.

Government, Dock Body Split on Strike Solution

LONDON, July 20 (CP).—The Government and the National Dock Labor Board clashed today over the best way of getting striking stevedores and lightermen back on the job. At the same time, some observers saw what they believe are signs of a break in the tie-up which has crippled the giant port of London.

Arthur Deakin, general secretary of the Transport and General Workers' Union, said he is convinced there are clear signs that the great majority of the 15,509 striking stevedores and lightermen want to return to work.

But the unofficial "lockout committee" of the dockers said: "The attitude of the men is stiffening."

The Lightermen's Union—of whose 4,000 members about 1,300 are out—called a mass meeting for Thursday at which the union's executive said it would urge the men to go back.

But a new threat hung over Swansea docks in Wales, where the C.S.U. has established "one-room Welsh headquarters." The Montreal City—another ship blacklisted by the C.S.U. and which was the cause of some 2,000 dockers striking at Avonmouth when she last called—is due in port Thursday.

Joe Bateman, member of the C.S.U. Strike Committee in Swansea, said he and his colleagues will "publicize the fact that this ship is a black ship."

Meanwhile in London, 9,265 servicemen were working 92 ships while 45 vessels lay idle and four were being unloaded by inadequate crews.

Labor Minister George Isaacs gave these figures to the House of Commons which assembled in a stormy mood to harry him and Prime Minister Attlee with questions about the Government's breach with Lord Ammon.

Lord Ammon, chairman of the National Dock Labor Board, issued an ultimatum Tuesday that the dockers must be back at work Thursday morning or face forfeit of the National Dock Labor Scheme.

Shortly after the statement was issued, Attlee's residence said it had been made without authorization of the Government's Five-man Emergency Committee set up last week to handle the crisis.

Lord Ammon today angrily said the Government had "gone crazy" and had "spoiled the whole show."

C.S.U. Denounced By Crew

OTTAWA, July 20 (CP).—The Labor Department said today it has received a telegram signed "D. McAugher, for crew of The Beaverbrae," claiming the Canadian Seamen's Union no longer represents the crew of the strike-bound vessel.

The telegram said 60 per cent of the crew had returned to the ship.

The Beaverbrae is one of two Canadian ships tied up in London by the strike the Communist-influenced C.S.U. has been waging against deepsea shipping since March. British dockworkers have refused to unload the vessel and walked out in support of the seamen.

The telegram concluded: "Present conflict definitely not trade union dispute. We want free trade unionism and no barter with Communism."

Canadair Due Early Today

VANCOUVER, July 21 (Wednesday). — The Canadian Pacific Air Lines Canadair Four Empress of Sydney was scheduled to arrive here at 2 a.m. today after completing more than 20,000 miles of flying.

The plane left San Francisco at 8.30 p.m. on the last leg of the journey from Australia. Thirty-two Canadian airlines and communications officials, government representatives and newspaper men, were aboard the plane on its pre-inaugural Canada-to-Australia flight.

Allies Join In Denouncing Soviet Protest

LONDON, July 20 (INS).—Britain, France, the United States and Italy rejected today a Russian charge that Italy's participation in the Atlantic Pact is a violation of her peace treaty.

A spokesman for the Italian Foreign Office labelled the charge:

"A Summertime Soviet phantasy."

Most comment was unofficial since the text of the Soviet charge had not been received or had not yet been translated. But spokesmen in Rome, London, Paris and Washington generally echoed Secretary of State Acheson's comment.

Acheson said in Washington the Soviet charge is "utterly without foundation."

A spokesman for the British Foreign Office reiterated previous statements that the Atlantic Pact is purely a defensive alliance.

He said that special care had been taken when Italy was invited to join the pact that its armed forces be kept to the limitations prescribed by the Allied treaty.

Russia had charged that Italy's armed forces were expanded beyond the 250,000-man army, 22,500-man air force and 25,000-man navy provided for in the treaty.

B.C. Cabinet Posts For Cates, Bowman

Report Members to Replace Agriculture, Labor Ministers

A new Minister of Agriculture and a new Labor Minister are scheduled to be sworn in today, it was learned from sources close to the Cabinet yesterday.

Although many names have been mentioned in the welter of rumors circulating in the Legislative Buildings during the past week, it appears likely that Captain John H. Cates, Coalitionist of North Vancouver will become the new Labor Minister and Henry R. Bowman, the new Liberal member for Fort George, will succeed Hon. Frank Putnam as Minister of Agriculture.

Up to now Andrew Whisker, new Liberal member for Cowichan-Newcastle and former Labor Department executive, has been most prominently mentioned for the labor post. It appears highly unlikely that he will get the job, however, because among other things Vancouver Island already has three Cabinet members.

CATES DUE TODAY

Captain Cates, on the other hand, is scheduled to arrive in Victoria this morning, and it is believed he is coming over to accept his new labor appointment.

It was taken for granted, as soon as Mr. Putnam indicated he was retiring, that the new Agriculture Minister would come from the interior of the province to maintain the proper "geographic distribution" of ministerial posts.

Mr. Bowman fills this qualification and in addition has a vast knowledge of agricultural problems, the result of his job as agriculture and colonization superintendent for the Canadian National Railways. Mr. Bowman was in Victoria yesterday and it is believed he was here to discuss his new job with the Premier.

RETIREMENT PLANNED

It was reported that Mr. Putnam will take Mr. Bowman over the Province to introduce him to his new job and then the present minister will retire to his farm at Creston.

Captain Cates is regarded as a good choice for the labor post. A big, easy-going man he is president of C. H. Cates & Sons Ltd., a large tugboat firm in Vancouver. Mr. Cates has been in the business since 1919 and his firm has never had a strike. He is entering his second term in the Legislature.

Although Captain Cates is listed as a straight Coalitionist, he is known to lean to the Liberal view on most matters.

The new appointments will give British Columbia a total of 11 Cabinet ministers as opposed to the present ten. Only four of the 11 are Progressive Conservatives. One of two new posts permitted under legislation this Spring will still remain to be filled.

RELIEVE WISMER

Appointment of Captain Cates will relieve Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer of the Labor Ministry which he assumed in December, 1947 when Provincial Secretary and Health and Welfare Minister George S. Pearson was forced to relinquish the job because of illness.

Mr. Wismer said this Spring he was not willing to carry on the two jobs any longer. He claimed they were too much for one man.

Council To Sit On Survey

Mayor Percy George will call a special meeting of the City Council this afternoon to discuss further details of the proposed survey of civic administration by Stevenson & Kellogg. Written instructions for the survey will be prepared by the council.

The council had a hectic battle over the proposed survey Monday when some members of the City Council suggested that the finance committee may have "colored" instructions to the company. Those making the allegations were supporters of the city manager form of municipal government.

NEAR STALEMATE

The meeting ended in a near-stalemate when the council decided that the company was to be instructed simply "to make a survey."

Mayor George said yesterday he felt the council should give some more definite outline of the scope of the survey.

Council members will, therefore, meet with company representatives today to prepare some form of written instructions which will suit all members of the council.

Threaten Berlin Strike As Russians Break Pact

BERLIN, July 20 (INS).—United States Military Governor John J. McCloy declared tonight that "the gravity of the East-West conflict in Berlin is unchanged" despite recent Big Four agreements.

The High Commissioner-designate's statement to International News Service in an exclusive interview followed a Western Allied protest to the Russian high command that the Soviet-controlled rail directorate had "clearly violated" the recent West Berlin strike settlement.

A letter from the Western Commanders in Berlin said the directorate defaulted on its promise to pay rail workers living in Western Berlin salaries containing 60 per cent in West marks instead of the less valuable Soviet marks.

The Western leaders asked the Russians "to inform us without delay the actions you propose to take to insure that the terms (of the strike settlement) are complied with in all respects."

NO DEADLINE SET

U.G.O. the West Berlin rail union, tonight threatened to strike again unless the rail directorate "promptly" provides promised West mark payments. No deadline for such a strike was set, however.

McCloy said:

"There is no question that the Soviets in no way are abandoning their ultimate long-range objectives of supremacy here and in the rest of Germany and of expanding their spheres of influence and domination throughout the world."

McCloy declared there has been "some easing up since the Paris Conference" when the Russians pledged help in trying to make living conditions normal in divided Berlin after a previous commitment to lift the Soviet blockade of the city.

"But in the main," said McCloy, "their attitude and the subsequent difficulties which evolved lead to a belief that they are not interested in completely abiding with the Soviet terms of the agreement."

McCloy's statement followed by less than 24 hours President Truman's Chicago speech saying world Communism would "destroy itself" unless it halted attempted conquest of other nations.

McCloy said, "we approach the problem of achieving a modus vivendi (working agreement) for Germany with all good will possible, but only time can tell whether we are able to be successful."

Recover Money After Bandit Surrenders

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont., July 20 (CP).—More than $10,000 stolen from a bank at Larder Lake, 18 miles east of here, was recovered today in undergrowth on the shore of Lake Larder near the spot where a seaplane used by two suspected robbers in a getaway attempt was smashed on the shoreline rocks.

TAKEN TO CACHE

Police took Victor Desmarais, 23, of Noranda, Que., one of two men charged in connection with the robbery, to the area near the lake and he led them to the cache, about halfway between the shore and Highway No. 66, which is about one-quarter mile inland.

Desmarais surrendered to police this morning, several hours after the arrest of Leo Martial, 24, also of Noranda, who was captured shortly after the holdup yesterday. Police quoted Martial as saying his companion had been drowned in the lake during the escape attempt and that the loot had gone down with him.

Police said it appeared that with the finding of the money in the woods, practically all the loot had been recovered.

FOUR CHARGES

Martial and Desmarais were charged with armed robbery, assault, theft of an automobile and theft of an airplane. Desmarais had $1,600 on him when he surrendered to searchers who had sought him for 18 hours. Martial carried $525 when captured.

Investigators said Martial probably told the drowning story to give his companion time to hide the loot.

To Use Troops Aboard Collier

MELBOURNE, July 21 (Thursday) (Reuters).—Servicemen will unload coal from the strikebound 7,000-ton collier Haligonian Duke, Navy Minister W. J. Riordan of Victoria State said today.

The Haligonian Duke has been idle in this port for nearly five months as a result of a blacklisting by the Australian Seamen's Union, who carried out a request by the Canadian Seamen's Union to blacklist the ship.

The Haligonian Duke, formerly was Canadian-owned, but now is under British registry. The C.S.U. claimed she carried a non-union crew.

The vessel has 6,700 tons of Indian coal in her holds, while Melbourne's gas supply has been rationed to one hour daily because of the Australian wages-and-hours coal strike.

Third Reading For Steel Bill

LONDON, July 20 (Reuters).—The predominantly-Conservative House of Lords tonight gave third reading to a Government bill to Nationalize Britain's iron and steel industry.

But since it made some important changes, the battle with the Government continues.

One of these changes would postpone nationalization until after next year's general election to give the country a chance to have second thoughts on it.

The Government is expected to reject this amendment.

Australia to Use Troops In Mines to Halt Strike

SYDNEY, Australia, July 20 (CP).—Prime Minister Chifley and Senior Federal Cabinet Ministers have decided to use troops to mine coal in an effort to break the strike of Australian coal miners, informed sources said tonight.

Chifley during the day flew through a snowstorm from Canberra to Sydney to confer with Premier James McGirr of New South Wales. The storm grounded many other planes.

A bare announcement after the conference gave no indication of the results. But the Sydney Morning Herald in its Thursday edition, on the streets tonight, says it was decided to start mining operations with the army next week.

Already hundreds of army trucks and troops are concentrated in various parts of New South Wales, chief coal-producing state in the country. At Chifley's order, the army is withholding any information on troop movements, and dispositions are known only to senior Army officers and top members of the Government.

The coal strike, which began June 27 over demands for higher wages and shorter hours, has paralysed Australian industry.

Unofficial estimates today put Australia's losses from the 24-day strike at 70,000,000 man-hours, 1,000,000 tons of coal, £16,000,000 ($51,200,000) in wages, £55,000,000 in goods, 80,000 tons of steel and 64,000 tons of pig iron.

Chiang Back To Formosa After Parleys

CANTON, July 21 (Thursday) (INS).—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek left Canton today for Formosa after a week of conferences with Nationalist leaders designed to revitalize the battle against Communism in China.

Chiang left [illegible] reports that the Communists are mounting their new offensive southwards towards the Nationalist capital.

SET UP COUNCIL

While in Canton, Chiang—fresh from "Pacific union" conferences with Philippines President Elpidio Quirino—set up a supreme policy-making council and a supreme war council.

He also established a similar council for Taipeh, capital of Formosa, packed with such leading Chinese Nationalists as to suggest that perhaps the capital of Nationalist Chinese resistance will be transferred to Formosa.

On the fighting scene, the wireless at the important coal-mine town of Pingsiang was reported silenced during the day, indicating the Communists have reached this objective on their two-pronged drive in Hunan Province.

Pingsiang is 100 miles northeast of Hengyang key rail junction in Hunan that is believed one of the Communists' objective on their strike southward towards Canton.

KEY POINTS

Hengyang, about 450 miles north of Canton, and Leiyang, 400 miles to the north are key points on the Hankow-Canton railroad. Their capture would mean a cut in rail communications between Canton and Changsha the capital of Hunan.

Unofficial reports in Canton said that Nationalist Government officials are rushing preparations to evacuate Changsha and that the situation there is as chaotic.

Shooting Changes Gangster Routine

LOS ANGELES, July 20 (AP).—Gangster Mickey Cohen usually travels in a big black Cadillac.

There's a big black Cadillac in front and a big black Cadillac in back. Sometimes two in front and two in back—on special occasions.

The procedure usually goes like this:

[illegible] henchmen approaches a night club, for instance. Only the first car drives in the parking lot. The rest go around the block and the next time another car peels off into the parking lot.

This merry-go-round continues until Cohen's cohorts make sure that the place is up to the boss' sanitary standards, that there is no one there who might make it "unhealthy" for him. Then he drives in.

Today the act had a slight twist.

TO HOLD CONCERT

The Kamloops Elks Band will hold a public concert in Beacon Hill Park on Tuesday at 8 p.m., and not on Sunday as previously announced.

Mickey Cohen, Hollywood Vice Chief, Three Others Wounded by Gangsters

LOS ANGELES, July 20 (AP)—Gambling kingpin Mickey Cohen and three other persons were blasted early today by gangster gunfire on Sunset Strip, movie night playground, less than 24 hours after he had been assigned a state bodyguard.

The special guard, Harry Cooper, [illegible] the dapper leader of Hollywood underworld night life, suffered only a shoulder wound.

CONDITION GRAVE

The other victims were ash-blonde Dee David, 26, a former actress, and Edward Herbert, 35, a Cohen henchman. Their condition was reported tonight as grave.

Today's shooting was the most spectacular gangland blast since Bugsy Siegel was ambushed as he sat in the Beverly Hills mansion of divorcee Virginia Hill, two years ago. Cohen was questioned then by police but nothing developed.

Cohen is a central figure in a current grand-jury inquiry into police vice tie-ups.

Cooper was assigned Tuesday by Attorney-General Fred Howser of California to guard Cohen, presumably because Cohen had voiced fear that Eastern gangsters were in town to assassinate him.

Asked today in his hospital bed whom he suspected, the stocky Cohen yelled: "everybody."

Said Attorney-General Howser:

"The cowardly attempted assassination of special agent Cooper appears to be a challenge to all law and order and decent citizens in our community."

Cohen's party was leaving Sherry's restaurant with the closing-time crowd when a spray of shotgun slugs came from across the street. Sheriff's investigators later found that two gunmen had set up a blind in a vacant lot next to the Bing Crosby building.

The gunmen apparently jumped into a waiting car, drove away and threw the guns into the gutter.

Says Nothing in Atlantic Pact On U.S. Sharing Atomic Bomb

WASHINGTON, July 20 (INS).—Chairman McMahon (Dem.-Conn.), of the Senate-House Atomic Committee, declared tonight that nothing in the Atlantic Pact obligates the U.S. to share the atomic bomb with other signatories.

McMahon made his statement as the Senate went into extended session tonight to complete debate on the historic agreement in preparation for expected overwhelming approval Thursday at 5 p.m. (EDT).

Chairman Connally (Dem., Tex.) of the Foreign Relations Committee said that all limiting reservations would be defeated and not more than a dozen votes would be cast against the pact.

Sen. Taft (Rep., Ohio), nevertheless continued his fight for enough votes to pass a reservation which would specifically release the U.S. from an automatic obligation to arm Western Europe in peacetime.

McMahon contended the question of whether the atom bomb should be shared with other pact members was one which could more properly be discussed when the issue of implementing the pact comes before Congress.

HONOLULU, July 20 (INS).—Eighteen persons were taken to hospital and 27 were arrested following a violent demonstration on Honolulu's strikebound waterfront today. More than 350 men identified as striking C.I.O. longshoremen stormed the offices of the Hawaiian Stevedoring Co., Ltd., which was formed recently to dispatch non-union crews to unload ships.

No Operation For Gardiner

REGINA, July 20 (CP).—Agriculture Minister Gardiner was reported by a hospital attendant today to be in "very good" condition following an acute abdominal disorder.

He was flown here today by a Saskatchewan Air Ambulance plane from his farm near Lemberg, Sask. It was not considered that an operation would be necessary and that Mr. Gardiner would be released from hospital in a "few days."

Gulls have lived as long as 50 years.

Final Rites Conducted For Victoria Churchman

Pontifical Requiem Mass for Monsignor A. B. W. Wood, D.P., O.B.E., was celebrated Tuesday morning from St. Andrew's Cathedral by the Most Reverend James M. Hill, D.D., Bishop of Victoria.

Previous to the mass the body of the prelate, one of Victoria's best known Roman Catholic clergymen, had lain in state since Sunday outside the sanctuary of the Cathedral.

Sermon at the mass was preached by Rev. L. MacLellan, pastor of Queen of Peace Church, Esquimalt.

MANY TRIBUTES

"The many expressions of condolence received from all parts of Canada bear testimony to the high regard in which the prelate was held," said Father MacLellan.

Messages of sympathy came from Mayor Percy George, the National and Diocesan Councils of the Catholic Women's League, the Naval Veterans' Branch No. 42, Victoria and from "a host of friends."

Monsignor Wood's appointments were reviewed by Father MacLellan.

He had been rector of St. Andrew's Cathedral, pastor at Queen of Peace Church for 16 years, chaplain in both wars, president of the Social Service League, executive member of the Red Cross Society and of the Connaught Seamen's Institute and state chaplain of the Knights of Columbus.

PROFOUND SCHOLAR

Monsignor Wood was also a profound scholar and an accomplished musician, Father MacLellan said.

"With that keen mind of his, a favorite thesis with him was that modern errors and isms were merely age-old errors with new labels.

"Far from the shores of your beloved England, far from the scenes of your childhood days, you will rest in peace in this far outpost of Empire.

"And to England which gave you to us, we express our heartfelt gratitude for her gift of this priestly priest, this saintly prelate."

New Nurses' Bungalows Opened As Solarium Ceremonies Held

Three roomy nurses' bungalows were formally opened by Lieutenant-Governor W. C. Woodward yesterday at the annual open house day of the Queen Alexandra Solarium.

The large ranch-type cottages, built at a cost of $55,000, were the gift in the Solarium of the Victoria Gyro Club.

R. Logan Mayhew, president of the Solarium board of directors, began the open house ceremonies by introducing Lloyd McLennan, president of the Victoria Gyro Club, who turned the new buildings over to Col. Woodward who accepted them on behalf of the Solarium.

HOW FUNDS RAISED

Mr. McLennan told the audience, spread over the lower lawn under the Solarium sun porch, that the cottages were built from funds raised at the annual Gyro Club hole-in-one contests that began in 1940 strictly to raise Solarium funds.

He said the club executive had also sought and received a $25,000 grant from the Provincial Government so the buildings could be started without delay.

Describing the buildings as "unique on this continent," Mr McLennan said "it is our hope that they will lure nurses from near and far to carry on their very honorable profession."

THANKS GYRO CLUB

Then Col. Woodward turned the Gyro Club proclamation over to Mr Mayhew who thanked the club for the buildings and hoped that they would feel rewarded for their efforts in building them as they saw the results of their labor.

He reminded the audience that although the Solarium was not sure where it fitted in to the British Columbia Hospital Insurance Act, "it is a matter of fact that we still need your support now as in the past."

QUARTERS INSPECTED

Then, the official party went to each hut in turn where Col. Woodward cut the ceremonial ribbon at the door with surgical scissors handed to him by young patients posted to meet him.

Besides Col. and Mrs Woodward, the official party included Dr. and Mrs. Glenn Simpson, Mr and Mrs Mayhew, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd McLellan and Miss Dorothy Andrew, R.N.

After the ceremony, the new quarters and the rest of the Solarium were thrown open to visitors.

The band of H.M.C.S. Naden, under the direction of Lt.-Cmdr. H. G. Cuthbert, was in attendance to supply music for the ceremony and for the children listening from their beds on the sun porch.

While tea was served on the lower lawn, the guests and children were entertained by the Victoria Girls' Drill Team, directed by Capt. Norman Foster, and by Mr E. Crockford, magician.

Councillors Approve Road Plan

A plan for the maintenance of boundary roads between Saanich and the city, submitted by City Engineer Cyril Jones, was approved this week by Saanich Council, subject to certain amendments by H. D. Dawson, municipal engineer.

Mr. Jones explained by letter that he felt there was a definite tendency to retard development of boundary roads when no definite agreement exists with regard to sharing of costs.

In his plan he suggests that the development of these roads might well be divided between the authorities abutting onto the boundary in such a way that each authority would be responsible for certain roadways. The development of the areas between the roadway and the property line, he explained, could be carried out by the authority whose area of administration abuts on that side of the road.

Labor Council Raps C.S.U. In Resolution

A strongly-worded resolution condemning the Canadian Seamen's Union and urging its expulsion from the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress will be among motions presented by Victoria Trades and Labor Council delegates to the Congress' annual convention commencing September 15 at Calgary.

The resolution, endorsed by a Labor Council meeting last night, refers to the C.S.U.'s "connections in other lands" as "part of a totalitarian plan of intrigue, meant to completely destroy Western democracy through control of shipping lanes."

Victoria delegates to the congress' convention chosen at the meeting were Council President C. Peck, Secretary P. A. Rayment, and George Wilkinson, Labor Relations Board member and delegate to the council.

Other resolutions to be submitted by the Victoria delegation include a proposal to bring all workers within the scope of the Workmen's Compensation Act, the I.C. & A. Act and the Hours of Work Act; urging of the Federal Government to take all possible steps to alleviate the acute housing shortage that still exists in Canada, exemption of bunkhouse and cookhouse meals from sales tax.

Signing of an agreement covering office employees of the Kyuquot Trollers with the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union was reported by Union Delegate Mrs C. Hudson.

Gasoline Sales Higher in B.C.

Gasoline sales in British Columbia up to the end of May showed a 20 per cent increase over the same period last year, the Coal and Petroleum Board announced yesterday.

The increase may be partly explained, the board said, by the fact that flood conditions curtailed consumption during part of the period last year.

Sales during May were 12,589,604 gallons.

Sales to retailers in Victoria district were up 13.14 per cent, which did not quite keep pace with other parts of the province. Vancouver and district reported a jump of 15.63 per cent, while for the remainder of the province sales were up 31.46 per cent.

To Make U.S. Dollar Check in City

Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers will start their annual American-dollar investigations in Victoria in the near future, it was announced yesterday.

A Foreign Exchange Control Board official said that the Mounties have started spot checks across the Dominion to make sure that persons handling American dollars are familiar with the regulations.

ASK QUESTIONS

The usual procedure is for the Mountie to identify himself and ask the manager of the establishment if he has any American currency. Then he'll ask a few other routine questions to make certain that the manager is familiar with money.

The main idea of the check is to forestall any excuses of ignorance of the regulations in the case of prosecutions later in the tourist season.

A Canadian is permitted to carry up to $10 in American funds with him at any time and is allowed to take $150 out of the Dominion each year on pleasure travel.

The superficial area of the earth is 196,950,000 square miles.

Union Conciliation Plan Turned Down by Yarrows

Victoria shipyard union proposals to seek conciliation over current wage negotiations in conjunction with Vancouver shipyard workers have been rejected by Yarrows Ltd.

Company officials also reiterated statements made earlier that competition with Eastern Canadian yards necessitated the proposed dollar-a-day wage cut for new ship construction.

Union demands include 25-cent-an-hour increases.

Average wage rates for mechanics employed by Eastern yards is from $1.02 to $1.12 an hour, as compared with $1.42½ in Victoria, Yarrows officials said.

"In view of the present condition of industry on this coast, it is impossible to grant any direct or indirect increase in wages, but the company is prepared to continue the existing rates subject to the rise or fall in the cost of living."

The company reasserted its policy of non-recognition of the Victoria Joint Shipyard Council as bargaining agents for local shipyard unions.

"Any such action as you propose must be taken by each individual union concerned."

Keep Ottawa Out of Education Control

MUNICIPALITIES of British Columbia are up against a serious problem in school finances, and increased assistance from the Province in dribs and drabs has fallen short of the relief to which they feel themselves entitled. For the municipalities it is the now familiar problem of restricted revenue sources that cannot under the existing allotment of tax fields keep pace with mounting costs, as distinct from Federal and Provincial Governments with their wider income scope.

Nevertheless, there are some who will question the wisdom of the executive of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities in sponsoring a resolution for the convention in September calling for aid from Ottawa. Are the municipalities willing to see Federal invasion of the provincial common schools? That is what they are inviting. Past experience has shown that the Dominion Government is not prone to grant money for anything without exercising some supervision over the spending of it.

Only in capital outlays might Federal controls be regarded as tolerable. If municipalities were relieved of their share of the cost of new schools and equipment much money would be released annually for use elsewhere. This probably would entail some Federal control over type and standards of construction, but that is a matter that could be arranged to mutual satisfaction between Dominion and Province.

On the academic and administrative sides, however, Federal intervention should be avoided. If the way were opened for it, a leveling of standards throughout the Dominion would be inescapable, and however desirable an aim that might appear to be, Canada as a whole is not yet ready for it. The British North America Act expressly reserved to the provinces jurisdiction over their own standards of education, and nothing has happened since to challenge the far-sighted wisdom of its writers or to make any surrender desirable.

Will the Remedy Be 100 Per Cent Effective?

DECISION to do something positive about the pollution of adjacent beaches by Clover Point sewage will be welcomed. The present state of affairs, although it is by no means new, is not one that can be tolerated much longer. Notice boards are no guarantee against the infection of young children, and beaches are supposed to be available for the public use. The source of the pollution having been proved to the conviction of civic authorities, the obvious step is to rectify matters.

This the City hopes to do in part at least through the purchase of a comminutor by which offending solids would be crushed. What about the resultant liquids? They would not be free from taint, and dilution by sea waters may not be so effective as hoped. It is noteworthy that engineering and medical advice promises only considerable reduction in pollution, not a final cure. It is the latter that citizens have a right to expect if they are to use the beaches with free minds.

One looks to the City to pursue this matter to a realistic finish. By all means let the comminutor be tried in order to reduce the present hazard, but the remedy should not stop there unless it be 100 per cent effective. Other cities have faced the same threat to the health of their citizens and found the cure, some of them through methods which brought revenue to civic coffers. The public will not rest content until the last vestige of sewage pollution has been removed.

Closing Long Career in Public Service

WHEN Hon. Frank Putnam, retiring Minister of Agriculture and former Member for Nelson-Creston in the Legislature, steps down, British Columbia's public life will lose an urbane, long-headed and able representative with a lifetime of experience in the use of the natural resources of this province. Though there have been some occasions upon which this paper differed from some of his policies in the Department of Agriculture, his sincerity has not been questioned.

Better known in the immediate ranks of the Liberal Party and in the pre-sessional caucus, where many a knotty point of legislative procedure is unraveled, Mr. Putnam has brought a wide knowledge of British Columbia to the deliberation of successive Legislatures. Mining, fruit-growing, cattle-raising and not a few other pursuits basic to the development of the Coast province he has tried at first hand. A liberal progressive in thought, the retiring Minister of Agriculture has ever been a good British Columbian and an effective figure in any company. His surcease from public matters may provide for him a well-earned rest, but it will occasion a gap that will not easily be filled.

In many a committee room and during many a debate in the House, the tall, rangy figure of Mr. Putnam, with his genial smile and disarming air of general good will, has helped to move public matters forward. That, and the many friends he has made in a long record of public life, may be among the chief memories of his service. Good wishes will follow him from all sides of the Legislature.

TRIBUTE TO RANGERS

Sir,—May the Lions Club of Victoria encroach on your valuable space to express our appreciation as a service club to a voluntary organisation which has been largely responsible for saving a life and which is always ready at any time, day or night, to go into action. I refer to the South Vancouver Island Rangers and their bloodhound, Sir Roderick of Ogden, who located aged Mr. Peter Davidson lost in the bush for twenty-four hours in the vicinity of Maple Bay after the Dominion Day holiday.

Too few of us realise the extent of the effort and expense that the members of this group have gone to in order to obtain and so successfully train this dog for the benefit of anybody needing this service in or out of this community.

The Victoria Lions Club join with Mr Davidson and his family in thanking the Rangers and we bow to the splendid contribution of a type of necessary service no other organisation can duplicate.

The Lions Club of Victoria,
E. A. ESTLIN,
President.

1004 Blanshard Street, Victoria, B.C.

TELEPHONE RATES

Sir,—I should like to point out that the charges for telephones as advertised by the B.C. Telephone Company are not, to my mind, in keeping with facts.

We are on the Belmont exchange, multi-party line where, according to the advertisements, the charge is $1.50 a month. We pay $2.75 a month, almost double the amount quoted by the B.C. Telephone Company, and the service leaves a lot to be desired.

The company fails to point out that every half-mile or so away from the exchange the charge goes up 25 cents; so they are not supplying anything for nothing.

We are against an increase in rates.

E. SUDHUES

BEACH POLLUTION

Sir,—According to press reports the City Council will have the report and suggested installation of a comminutor as an answer to the elimination of solids, etc., now causing pollution of the beaches; also, if this fails, then it is suggested that the sewers be chlorinated. If this fails, what then?

According to tests made, the winds and tides are responsible for this condition. It would seem that the only solution would be to carry the sewer outlet beyond the danger point, far enough into tide currents that would carry the solids, etc., from the coast.

Breaking up the solids and chlorinization of the sewers does not remove the danger of pollution from the waters. That pollution will still be carried back to the bays and beaches. The tidal waters around Victoria do not recede far enough out to sea to eliminate this danger; therefore it would seem that the sewer outlets must be carried beyond the point whereby they would not return . . .

PROGRESS, WITH PAINS

Sir,—A few centuries ago the salt marshes and sand dunes of East Anglia were plentifully scattered by a poisonous plant. By cultivation and blanching the poison was eliminated, and we have a new vegetable—celery.

According to the newspaper, the Saanich industry in blanched celery has been discontinued and the industry in green celery has taken its place. Perhaps eventually the poison will get back into the plant.

The $64 question appears to be "To maintain or accelerate the rate of progress, do we have to walk backwards?"

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

MY radio happening to be tuned to an American station on Sunday last, I overheard two of the airwaves' best-known commentators, Mr. Winchell and Mr. Pearson, discuss—separately—the atomic bomb situation as it affected the relations of the United Kingdom and the United States.

They held widely divergent views.

As you know, President Truman recently held a hush-hush conference with appropriate ranking officials on the subject of atomic energy. Neither Mr Winchell nor Mr. Pearson was present, but apparently that was no drawback. Both of them seemed to know what went on at the conference.

Great Britain, it appears, has asked for specific information on the "know-how" of completing an atomic bomb, according to Mr. Pearson this request primarily concerns the release mechanism, a secret which the U.S. has hugged to its own private bosom ever since the first atom bomb was dropped. Canada, Britain and the U.S.A. worked closely together on the development of the bomb during the war, but this knowledge has not been shared.

The United Kingdom has an atomic pile ready and wants to make the bombs in England.

Mr. Winchell conceded that British scientists had a major part in the creation of the A-bomb, but the thought of Britain being made privy to U.S. atomic secrets makes him wroth, and uncomplimentary.

* * *

He is all against handing over this precious secret to Britain, whom he practically accused of being an enemy of America. Certainly by pointing to the fact that after 40 years' friendship with France the guns of the Royal Navy were turned on French ships during the war, and linking this episode with recent British agreements to purchase goods from Russia and Argentina respectively — with American money, he said—he managed to convey an unpleasant implication. He all but said that the U.S. might find it necessary to duplicate against Britain the kind of action Britain was forced to take against the French Navy.

Had Mr. Winchell argued his case without heat, he might have been able to express his fears about handing over atom bomb secrets with more validity. Undoubtedly there is an American position closely related to security in view of the imponderables of international happenings, and it is true that history is replete with changes of military alliances over the years. He must be the only prominent American, however, who contemplates the possibility that Britain and America might some day be on opposite military sides.

As for the propriety of British trade agreements with Russia and Argentina, so long as nations are at peace so long will they trade with one another just as they exchange ambassadors. Mr Winchell's own country, the U.S.A., trades every day with both Russia and Argentina. In 1947 she bought goods from the U.S.S.R. to the value of $77,000,000, and sold Russia goods worth $149,000,000. She imported from Argentina goods worth $154,000,000 and exported to the same place goods worth $680,000,000.

* * *

Mr Pearson dealt with the subject more objectively and therefore more convincingly. He thought it quite natural that Britain should want to make atomic bombs, and he believed that Britain, Canada and the United States should share all knowledge that is available.

He questioned the wisdom of the proposed British course, however, in view of the vulnerability of the British Isles to enemy air attack. There was always the likelihood of a British bomb plant being speedily destroyed or rendered useless, involving both a waste and a loss.

His solution would be to accede to Britain's request and give her the secret "know-how" about the A-bomb, but make arrangements for Britain to manufacture the bombs on this side of the Atlantic—in Canada, for instance—or else for Americans to make some of the bombs especially for the United Kingdom. Thus the bombs would be kept inviolate and would be readily at British disposal if needed.

I must confess that Mr. Pearson's viewpoint seems much more reasonable than Mr. Winchell's. It was also much more calmly presented.

Britain's Financial Plight

By RAYMOND MOLEY

NEW YORK.—Sir Stafford Cripps, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, in his long statement about England's financial troubles, has made it clear that the hopes for recovery that his predecessors in government had held four or five years ago have not materialized. Our big loan of nearly four years ago lasted less than two years. Meanwhile, we have taken over the cost of the British zone in Germany and are paying between $1,000,000,000 and $1,500,000,000 to England under the Marshall Plan.

The general idea was that our help could end in 1952. But, says the British weekly, The Economist, "1952 is now." This does not mean that the self-sufficiency that England anticipated for 1952 has come, but that the crisis expected in that year has arrived and England is not prepared for it.

It means that England has reached a point where, even with the Marshall Plan money and everything else we have done, she faces a crisis almost as serious as she faced before we extended our help.

* * *

Putting aside for the moment the complicated problems of money exchange, let us look at the situation in terms of goods. England traditionally has been to a large part of the world what a county seat or small city used to be to a rural area in our Middle West—where farmers brought grain to a mill and flour and "middlings" and other products were returned; where farmers deposited money and got loans from banks; where manufactured articles could be bought.

England was more than the world's general store, because it made goods as well as traded in goods. Like the cities described by William Jennings Bryan, England could not of itself support its people. Cut it off from the world, and it would starve. Its convenient location and its cheap sea-going transportation gave it a trading advantage. And it had an intelligent, industrious people with many great technical skills. Its bankers knew money, and its traders were shrewd and progressive.

At the end of the war, England was assured that it still had all these advantages and that, despite the fact that it was pretty well "broke," with the help of some borrowed money, the wheels would again turn, money would flow in and things would be as they were.

But Cripps and others tell us that recovery has not taken place, despite the loans and despite great self-denial.

* * *

Much of what Cripps has to say deals with England's diminishing reserves of gold and dollars. This is, roughly, the nation's working capital. We are paying into that capital something like $100,000,000 a month. But the British reserve, because of the necessity of importing costly food and raw materials, is nevertheless going down more than $100,000,000 a month. Cripps says that for safety the reserve should be $2,000,000,000. It is now about $1,500,000,000, and sinking.

To stop this drain, one or both of two courses are indicated: To import less and export more. Cripps makes it clear that these courses, so far as stopping the reserve decline is concerned, apply to trading with "dollar" countries. Leaders among these countries are the United States, Canada and Switzerland. Belgium and Portugal are partially "dollar" countries.

To give up trade with the "dollar" countries and trade only with sterling countries would be fatal to England. Such economic insulation was possible in Hitler's Germany largely because it reverted to bi-lateral trading and because it could, with some ingenuity, feed itself. That would be impossible in England's case. The prosperous storekeeper must have trade with prosperous customers. The validity of Cripps' other alternatives will be the subject of another column.

Burden of Hidden Taxes

(From The Toronto Telegram)

A PACKAGE of twenty cigarettes retails in this country for 35 cents, but in the United States similar-sized packages of popular brands can be bought for nineteen or twenty cents. An explanation for the higher price in Canada is the heavier excise tax collected by the Dominion Government. Of the 35 cents charged on a box of twenty, no less than 21½ cents goes for the various excise taxes and duties. The Windsor Star has made some interesting computations on what the excise tax takes from the pocket of the person who smokes a package a day.

The Windsor paper says that in a year the individual consuming twenty cigarettes daily will pay approximately $78.40 per annum to the Department of National Revenue. This sum, according to the computation is $3.40 greater than the income tax paid by a single man on 1949 earnings of $1,500, or about equal to the tax a married man with two dependents will pay on earnings of $2,800. In excise duties and taxes last year, Canadian smokers contributed $180,900,000 to the Federal Treasury.

The foregoing figures forcibly illustrate the impact of the "hidden" taxes on the public and the cost of living. The sales tax on commodities alone last year took $391,490,000 from the public and to that extent increased the cost of living. If it were possible to withdraw all these hidden taxes there is no doubt that the cost of living would be substantially lower. It would be possible for the people to have a much better understanding of the cost of government if all taxes were paid on a direct basis like the income tax.

In his 1949 budget speech, Finance Minister Abbott declared that Canadians prefer to pay taxes in forms other than high income taxes. "I think most of us believe the income tax on individuals is the fairest and best tax we have," said Mr. Abbott. "The trouble is that we just don't like it, or at least we don't like too much of it."

Therefore, the Dominion Government continues to extract large amounts from the people in "hidden" taxes, and there are no signs of relief from these burdens. If the public put up a real protest the Finance Minister might conclude that they are not relished either.

OFFICIALS

A fellow we know was pretty busy around tax time and filed his return a couple of days late. "I have no excuse," he confessed to the Government in an accompanying note. "I just forgot. I am enclosing the required 5 per cent fine." Shortly he received a ponderous and official letter requesting him to fill out a form setting forth the reasons for his delinquency, and have it notarized. "No excuse," he wrote back. "Have paid fine." Last week he got another letter. No excuse, it said in essence, is not an excuse. "Please file notarized affidavit testifying that you had no excuse."

The bride was ordering her first ton of coal. "What kind of coal did you want?" the dealer asked.

"Kind?" exclaimed the bride, puzzled. "Are there different kinds?"

"Oh, yes," answered the dealer. "For instance, we have egg coal and chestnut coal."

"I'll take the egg coal," the bride promptly decided. "I'll be cooking eggs oftener than I will chestnuts."

Observation Car: By G. B.

SEVERAL communities have been heard to complain that many of the huge number of United States tourists who visit Victoria do not drive Up-Island. It is not the fault of our city. Where tourists stay and where they drive is their own business. It takes money to make money in the tourist industry. The place with the most attractions properly advertised is bound to get the bulk of the business. Having marvelous scenery, good roads, comfortable accommodation, fine food, excellent fishing and boating and bathing facilities is not sufficient. Tourists must be told about it through the medium of newspaper and magazine advertising, radio programs and illustrated folders . . . A dangerous blind corner has been created by buses parked at the intersection of Courtney and Gordon Streets. When the long vehicles are left at the northeast corner, within a foot or two of the street line, automobiles proceeding west on Courtney Street have absolutely no view of traffic going south on Gordon Street. There would be fewer accidents if vehicle parking was prohibited within 75 feet of each corner of every intersection in Greater Victoria . . . An anthropologist estimated that the first men came to North America 40,000 years ago. So far the Russians have not laid claim to settling the continent . . . Reports from Alberta indicate that bears have been killing cows in certain isolated regions. On the stock market, bulls go after the bears . . . Britons are running out of dollars, meat, and their original enthusiasm for Clement Attlee . . . Production of automobiles reached a new peak last month. Destruction of automobiles on the highways remains at a high level . . . The average man would like to see a mild, satisfying form of religion which is not expensive and does not obligate him to go to church.

The Packsack

WITH a pipe between your teeth, you are likely to leave unsaid many things you would have spoken if you had merely been smoking a cigarette.

This is one of the important recommendations of pipe smoking. Men who have the habit of speaking impetuously should take up pipe smoking. Hardly a week goes by, in the lives of most men, that they have not reason to regret having spoken when they should have shut up. A good pipe between the teeth is a first-class curb on the tongue. Some men can talk with a pipe in their mouths, but the majority have the habit, in conversation especially, of removing the pipe for each considered utterance.

A pipe induces reflection. In bygone days, the big, curved Peterson pipe, made in Dublin—a pipe almost the size of a young saxophone—was advertised as "the contemplative man's smoke." With such a pipe in your teeth, you are inclined to sit and listen. The pipe rests comfortably against your collarbone. It hums, almost. It is fat, full and somnolent. Incense rises from it, close to your half-closed eyes, blurring your companions around you. If speak you must, you have to remove the big curved pipe with almost as much protocol as you would remove your hat. So, instead, you are inclined to doze and listen to your friends and keep your own counsel.

Cigarettes, actually, incite speech. A cigar is nearer to a pipe in its oral obstructionary character. After a good big dinner, when conversation is a burden, a good fat cigar neatly filling the hole in your face through which nine-tenths of your troubles emanate, is a fine, aromatic stop-gap.

Some of the worst talkers in the world are cigar smokers. But they clamp the cigar in their molars, allowing it to project belligerently out of their cheek. A cigar so worn gives a man a sense of mastery, of authority. He must talk incisively, because it comes through his incisors.

But a pipe is peace. — Canada Wide Feature Service Ltd.

First Payment for Oats 61½ Cents in New Plan

OTTAWA, July 20 (CP).—Initial payments will be 61½ cents a bushel for oats and 90 cents for barley when the Canadian Wheat Board takes over marketing of coarse grains at the end of this month.

The prices, based on No. 1 feed grades in store at Fort William and Port Arthur, were announced at a [illegible] Prime Minister C D Howe.

It followed the June 1 announcement that the Wheat Board would take over marketing of Western oats and barley from the Winnipeg Grain Exchange on August 1.

END OF POSITION

That virtually signalled the end of the grain exchange's position in world grain-trading, leaving only rye and flax to be bought and sold through the once-great market.

The producer will get 61½ cents for his oats and 90 cents for barley less the costs of transporting the grain to the Lakehead and storing it there.

Included in the deduction would be 1½ cents for oats and three cents for barley as a reserve against country carrying charges and pool operating expenses to the Lakehead.

The total deductions would be about the same as they have been under the Government price support policy up to now, Mr Howe said.

WHEN DELIVERED

The initial price will be paid to the farmer when the oats and barley are delivered to the board. At the same time the producer will receive a certificate covering the quantity and grades he has delivered.

Then if there is any surplus from the operations of the Wheat Board on oats and barley pools the money will be divided among the farmers on the basis of grain contributions.

Mr Howe said the Wheat Board will sell the coarse grains through private dealers and will post daily prices in line with demand and the world situation.

The initial prices announced today are the same as the floor level prices which have been maintained by the Government.

Both oats and barley still are selling well above the floor price on the exchange. Any premiums on oats, like the malting premium, could be arranged between the elevator men and the malting companies. Payment of premiums would not go through the Wheat Board.

TO ESTABLISH PAYMENTS

Mr Howe said the Wheat Board will establish related initial payments for other grades of Western oats and barley. They will be announced before the end of the month.

The board would also announce further plans in respect to handling of the coarse grains in the 1949-50 crop year but it intended to use existing facilities for the distribution of these grains.

Asked if there was any intention of having the Wheat Board take over marketing of rye, Mr. Howe said private facilities have always handled rye and the Government won't take it over unless the facilities are removed.

June Adverse Trade Balance For U.K. Highest Since 1947

LONDON, July 20 (CP).—Britain's adverse trade balance in June was the highest since September, 1947, and her imports were the largest on record, the Board of Trade announced today.

Excess of imports over the total exports and re-exports in June was £54,200,000 ($216,800,000), an increase of £16,400,000 over May. Exports during June totaled £143,100,000, a decrease of £8,300,000 from May's exports.

Provisional exports to Canada were put at £6,000,000 and to the United States at £3,000,000.

EXPORT RATE HIGHER

Although exports were down from May, the daily rate of exports was 2.5 per cent higher in June because it covered only 24 customs working days compared with 26 in May.

Re-exports totaled £4,400,000 which was less than the average in recent months.

Allowing for the change in prices since 1938, the total volume of exports in June is provisionally estimated at 145 per cent of the 1938 average, compared with 153 per cent in May and 140 per cent in April. The biggest export decline was in vehicles which fell by £2,400,000 to £24,800,000.

Sees U.S. As Member Of Empire

LONDON, July 20 (CP).—The possibility that the United States might become a member of the British Commonwealth was envisaged today in the House of Commons by Beverley Baxter, Conservative member for Wood Green.

"I am not at all certain that the third British Empire will not see the return of the American Continent," the Toronto-born member said during a debate on the Colonies.

NO DOLLARS

"Americans are faced with a problem which they cannot solve—of how to sell goods to a world which has no dollars to buy them.

"There is only one solution to the world's economic disaster which is approaching and that is for Americans and Canadians to find some way to come into the sterling economy with free, interchangeable currency, as this country in the 19th century went into America after the Civil War built up American economy."

Baxter referred to publisher Lord Beaverbrook as "an uncomfortable fellow traveler" who preached Empire free trade "night and day and especially on Sundays."

NOT IN GREAT FAVOR

Baxter added: "He is not in great favor with the Conservative Party so if the party opposite wants to cheer it will be in order."

To this remark, J. Rankin, Labor member for Tradeston, retorted: "So you want to palm him off on us."

Baxter, criticizing the Liberal Party for not participating in the debate, said he was "delighted" at the interest shown in the Colonies by the Labor Party since 1945.

Stone Bridge to Be Centre Of Park Site in Kootenays

TRAIL, B.C., July 20 (CP). — One of the natural wonders of British Columbia, a 143-foot stone bridge overlooking the Lower Arrow Lake will be the centre of a 400-acre park site, it was announced today by Lands Minister E. T. Kenney.

The 65-foot high archway, thought to be the largest natural stone bridge in Canada, towers above the lake, about 1,000 feet above the water level. It is located between 20 and 30 miles northwest of Trail.

The park designation was made primarily to prevent exploitation of the area by private enterprise, A. D. Turnbull, M.L.A. for Rossland-Trail, reported.

Winnipeg Police Get Clean Bill As Commission Ends Hearing

WINNIPEG, July 20 (CP).—Winnipeg police do not make a common practice of holding arrested persons incommunicado nor are there many instances of persons under arrest having been severely beaten, a Royal Commission established to inquire into charges against the force said today.

LITTLE INVESTIGATION

In making its report, presented to Attorney-General J. O. McLenaghen of Manitoba, the Commission commented that as the hearings of the 20 charges against the police progressed it became quite evident that the charges made by complainants had been accepted "without any real investigation as to their details or correctness" before being filed with the Commission.

On the Commission, whose chairman was Chief Justice E. A. McPherson were R. S. Hunter, retired business man and Andrew Murphy, president of the Winnipeg and District Trades and Labor Council, was set up after O. S. Thorvaldson, former Progressive Conservative member of the Manitoba Legislature for Winnipeg, had made charges against the police.

The Commission found that senior officers of the force have not condoned, connived at or encouraged a common practice of holding prisoners incommunicado or of refusing to notify persons of a prisoner's arrest, particularly his doctor, solicitor or a member of his family.

FULFILLING DUTIES

The Commission also found that senior officers have not condoned, connived at or encouraged police to beat prisoners in contravention of the rules and regulations governing the force, and that Winnipeg's Board of Police Commissioners is fulfilling its statutory duties regarding these matters and has not failed to fulfill them.

In all but two of the cases investigated, the complainants had been drinking. In one case, that of Alexander Achron of Winnipeg, the evidence was conflicting. Mr. Achron had alleged a police officer had struck him on the mouth after he had created a disturbance following a rugby game.

The Commission said it was satisfied the rule which forbade a prisoner to use the telephone personally was a reasonable one. Messages would be taken for him at his request.

The report said that when a prisoner became disorderly and would not keep quiet his hands would be placed between the cell bars and then locked together with leather straps.

In this position a man of average height would have his hands almost horizontal with his elbows, "but not by any means hung up by the wrists as suggested, and his weight would not be taken off his feet."

Bill Will Keep Reds in Jail

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP). — The House of Representatives Judiciary Committee is winding up for a quick one-two punch against Communists.

A bill to let the Attorney-General keep deportable aliens in jail is ready for committee action tomorrow.

Once that is out of the way, Rep. Walter (Dem., Pa.) says hearings can be started quickly on his bill to take away the citizenship of members of Communist political organizations.

"Maybe we could start about Monday or Tuesday," Walter said.

STRANGE HARVEST

VANCOUVER (CP). — Strange things grew overnight on C. Thody's front lawn. One Sunday morning he found: two overcoats, a man's suit, dressing gown, eight shirts, women's slacks and skirt, seven blouses, five dresses, three slips, a night dress and chenille dressing gown. He gave his harvest to the police, but he's still puzzled.

Five Residents and Three Passengers Dead as Airliner Crashes in Seattle

SEATTLE, July 20 (INS). — The death toll in the flaming crash of a non-scheduled eastbound airliner into a Seattle residential district mounted to eight today.

Five residents and two passengers suffered fatal injuries when the C-46 operated by the Air Transport Associates smashed into the residential section late last night. Thirty-five other persons were injured.

Latest to die was Pete Chumas of Seattle who suffered fatal injuries when the plane rocketed into an apartment house.

ENGINE BACKFIRED

A 25-year-old co-pilot of the plane who escaped with slight injury said the right engine backfired when the plane was 75 feet in the air on its takeoff from Seattle's King County airport.

Witnesses said the plane faltered, sheared a telephone pole, hit a high-tension power wire and exploded in flames atop a wooden apartment house near the field.

The injured included the occupants of the smashed and burned row of frame houses and six firemen hurt hours later when a gas tank exploded.

SECOND IN EIGHT DAYS

The crash was the second in eight days involving a non-scheduled plane. A chartered airliner fell day (July 12), and 35 persons were killed.

Coroner John P. Brill identified the dead as:

Frank Morgan 65, Edward Brightcamp, 71, Olavi N. Niemi, 46 and Ralph Parker, all residents of one home hit by the plane; Frank Catalica, Kalamazoo, Mich., a soldier-passenger; Laurence Furio, Chicago, passenger (tentative identification), Pete Chumas, Seattle, resident and an unidentified passenger from Anchorage, Alaska.

EXPLODED WITH ROAR

Witnesses told how the plane—its wide wings slashing through frame houses—buried its nose in one home and two minutes later exploded with a tremendous roar.

Hours later a wing tank exploded, injuring the firemen fighting the blaze.

Amos E. Heacock, president of the company which operated the plane was aboard the aircraft and gave a dramatic account of the crash. He fought his way through the blazing plane to herd injured and dazed passengers to the rear "because I knew the flames would come from the front." He added:

"The tail of the plane was broken off, making an easy egress for the passengers.

"I passed back through the plane toward the front and checked all seats for passengers.

"I found two pilots struggling with a third pilot apparently dazed or unconscious. They were entangled in safety belts and wreckage. I pulled them free and tossed them clear of the flames."

The air accident recalled the crash last January of a chartered plane at Kings County airport in which 11 Yale University students and three crewmen were killed.

A multiple investigation of the crash in under way.

Defence Hits U.S. Witness In Nisei Trial

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20 (INS). —The defence at the Tokio Rose treason trial leveled a savage attack today at one of the Government's most important witnesses.

Defence Attorney Wayne Collins directed his fire at little George Mitsushio, a San Francisco-born Nisei, who renounced his American citizenship to become director of the "front line section" of Radio Tokio's wartime propaganda broadcasts.

TOOK U.S. OATH

Collins forced Mitsushio to admit that he took the oath of allegiance to the United States every day while he was in school, and to admit further that he had never taken an oath of allegiance to Japan.

By this cross-examination the aggressive grey-haired defence attorney sought to discredit Mitsushio's testimony of yesterday in which he said that defendant, Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino, was fully aware of the insidious propaganda purpose of the "Zero Hour" program on which she broadcast.

Mitsushio, previously calm and confident on the witness stand, was obviously shaken by Collins' barrage in which the Japanese attempted — unsuccessfully — to recite the oath of allegiance to the American flag.

ALMOST WHISPERED

His voice sank to an almost inaudible whisper as he answered "yes" to questions that sought to show that he himself was a traitor to the land of his birth.

He denied, however, Collins' charge that he was a member of the Kempetai — the dreaded Japanese secret police.

Under earlier testimony for the prosecution Mitsushio identified several broadcasts as having been made by Iva.

HAD BEEN INFORMED

Mitsushio swore that Iva had been explicitly informed of and had acknowledged the objective of the propaganda broadcasts.

He testified further that he was with the slender defendant while she murmured taunts at Allied troops.

Extra Meeting Up to Abbott

OTTAWA, July 20 (CP).—Acting Prime Minister Howe said today Finance Minister Abbott will be in Ottawa Friday and it will be up to Mr. Abbott to decide whether he wants a special Cabinet meeting to discuss his dollar-crisis visit to London.

If not, the next meeting is slated for next Tuesday.

Mr. Howe told a press conference he had no information to impart about the talks on Britain's dollar shortage.

Saved Dog From Flames Of Airliner

SEATTLE, July 20 (AP).—Edward Ellison of Media, Pa., plunged back into the burning wreckage of an airplane last night to rescue a small dog.

Mrs. Delores Felip of New York City told the story today from her hospital bed. She was one of the 32 people aboard the non-scheduled air transport which crashed into a group of Seattle homes.

Ellison, 26-year-old sailor, was seated beside Mrs. Felip in the plane.

HELPED WOMAN OUT

"He saved Tiny's life," she said. "He helped me out and then went back after the dog."

Ellison, who was treated for a head cut at the hospital, said he "didn't give it a minute's thought."

But it took him several precious seconds to convince the dog Tiny she should be rescued. "I found her whimpering under a seat," said Ellison. "Every time I made a grab for her Tiny jumped back."

Shortly after the last survivor left the plane it exploded.

Calls Grand Jury Back to Duty In Probe of Masked Floggings

BIRMINGHAM Ala., July 20 (INS). — The Jefferson County Grand Jury today was summoned back into session to continue its probe of masked floggings and night-riding Friday.

The call was issued by Circuit [illegible] was issuing the call in "the public interest" during the absence of Judge George L. Bailes, who organized the jury.

The jury will be the same as that in session last week when it was disclosed that it contained an ex-Ku Klux Klan member, a former convict and an illiterate.

Meanwhile, a 46-year-old preacher who allegedly prayed for a flogging victim by a masked group at Graysville, Ala., was being held in the Jefferson County (Birmingham) jail without bond.

TAKEN INTO CUSTODY

The ex-coalminer-preacher was identified as R. C. Lyons, who said he was an Assembly of God minister. He was taken into custody by State investigators late yesterday after a last victim, Jack Alexander, spotted him in Graysville.

A new flogging also came to light today in Goodwater, Ala., where a 25-year-old resident related how he and a negro farmer—both former servicemen—were beaten by armed, but unmasked men last night.

S. O. Bailey, of near Goodwater, told authorities that he was at home with his wife when two cars and a pickup truck stopped in front of his house about 8 o'clock.

FACING GUNS

Bailey said he was ordered to come out and upon doing so found himself facing guns. He added that the unidentified negro was already in one of the cars.

Both were taken to a wooded spot near Millerville, in Clay County, 12 miles from Goodwater, where both were tied to a tree and beaten with a sawmill belt.

Bailey stated he was not beaten as badly as the negro, who was chased from the scene of the flog- [illegible] home.

Sheriff John McEwen said he had been informed that there was some "trouble over whisky."

SAID NOT KLANSMEN

Bailey declared that he was "positive" the floggers were not members of the Ku Klux Klan. He added:

"I know, because I'm a Klansman myself."

Sheriff McEwen said Bailey stated he recognized one of the flogger cars but declined to divulge the identity.

REGINA (CP) — A government forest survey indicates there are some 560 000 000 feet of old growth spruce timber commercially available in the central "prairie" province. The forest belt, about 150 miles wide, lies north of Prince Albert.

Won't Permit Hydrants On Elk Lake Pipeline

The Department of Transport has refused a Saanich Council request for permission to install four hydrants on the Elk Lake pipeline.

Councillor William C. Karsey had suggested placing the four hydrants where the pipeline crossed Brookleigh Road, Keating Crossroad, Mount Newton Crossroad and Stelly's Crossroad, for the purpose of giving extra fire protection to his [illegible]

TOTALLY INADEQUATE

"The pipeline is only in intermittent use and as far as being a satisfactory means of supplying water for fire fighters, it is regrettable it would be totally inadequate," write W S Lawson, district inspector of airways for the D O T.

He explained that the only water available would be that in the line itself, and any mechanical pump sucking water at an intermediate point might cause leakages in the line.

H D Dawson, municipal engineer, said even the water in the pipe would be of some benefit, but the council decided to drop the plan.

WATER FOR BRENTWOOD

Negotiations are under way, the D.O.T. official said, to provide Brentwood with water from this line, feeding it into a reservoir to be constructed by Brentwood ratepayers. If the council would consider a similar arrangement, he said he would again take the matter up with his headquarters. Cost of supplying water in this way has not been actually set, he explained, but estimated it would be about 12 cents per 1,000 gallons.

Adventures at Camp Await Island Cadets

Marine News

Today marks the start of an adventure for three Vancouver Island Sea Cadets, who will leave the city for the first Empire Sea Cadet camp at Camp Ewing, Choisy, Que.

Under auspices of the Navy League of Canada, the camp will be held between July 25 and [illegible]

Victoria's representative will be 18-year-old Donald A Gosse, son of Capt. and Mrs. A M Gosse, 2440 Epworth Street. He has been a member of the R.C.S.C.C. Rainbow here for the past two and a half years.

Other Island cadets to attend the Eastern Canada camp are David L. McCandless, 15, from Port Alberni; and Francis E G Palmer, 15, of Nanaimo. Young McCandless has been with R.C.S.C.C. Alberni for a year and a half, while Cadet Palmer has been a member of Nanaimo's R.C.S.C.C. Amphion for three and a half years.

FROM DISTANT LANDS

These cadets will meet and train with cadets from many parts of the world, including the United Kingdom, Sweden, New Zealand, Australia and other parts of Canada.

The Island cadets will be accompanied by Lieut J E T Mason, R.C.N. (Retired) who instructs local members of the Navy League Cadet Corps. He is an old-timer with the navy and is fully qualified to look after the interests of the cadets. He received the M.B.E. for his work during the recent war in the training of boys, junior officers and naval cadets at H.M.C.S. Royal Roads. He also has a fine sports record.

PLEASURE, TOO

At the camp, it is reported, emphasis will be placed on the pleasure and interest phases rather than intensive training which the cadets receive at their home bases throughout the year. A total of 80 cadets will attend from various parts of Canada, together with a number of Royal Canadian Navy officers.

The young men from Australia and New Zealand will pass through Victoria Saturday aboard the liner Aorangi. If time permits, local Navy League officials hope to take the "down under" cadets on a sightseeing tour of the city.

At the camp, the Navy League of Canada will present windbreakers and diaries to all visiting cadets from overseas.

KITTEN WINS RACE

Kitten, a sleek little sloop from Newport Harbor, Calif., won the 1949 Los Angeles-Honolulu yacht race Tuesday night—standing off a valiant, last-minute spurt by the San Francisco Sea Witch.

The 46-foot handicapped Kitten, sailed by Owner Fred W Lyons and a crew of six, beat 22 other entries and covered the 2,225-mile course in the corrected time of nine days, ten hours, 24 minutes and 49 seconds.

The Kitten also won the Class "B" trophy race. The Kitten crossed the finish line three days ago, but the handicap time for the Sea Witch—the last remaining contender—ran out Tuesday night.

NEW TROUBLE FOR SHIPS

The freighter Haligonian Duke, already tied up at Melbourne, Australia, for five months as a result of the strike of the Canadian Seamen's Union, faces new trouble.

The crew of the coal-laden ship have told the master they will only work the ship for Canadian rates of pay while she flies the Canadian Red Ensign.

The ship formerly was Canadian-owned but now is under British registry.

Dockers here have refused to handle her cargo of 6,700 tons of coal for India. The acted in sympathy with striking Canadian seamen. Victoria state authorities have announced they plan to unload the ship with voluntary labor.

TO CHART WATER

Another portion in the task of charting the waters of the Canadian Arctic is due to be undertaken shortly.

An eight-man hydrographic team in the service of the Federal Department of Mines and Resources is scheduled to leave Churchill, Man., July 29, with the chore expected to take several seasons, of preparing hydrographic charts of Chesterfield Inlet.

Running east to west, the Inlet is a 300-mile strip of water in the Northwest Territories. Chesterfield, at the mouth of the Inlet on Hudson Bay, is roughly 300 miles north of Churchill.

The hydrographers—actually only five of the team fall in that category while three other men will make up the crew of a vessel to be used by the team—will spend ten weeks on the job this Summer and will return to the job again next year. Members of the team will sail for Chesterfield aboard the Government Arctic ship, Regina Polaris.

PROVIDE SHARK OILS

Canada and Norway were the main suppliers of crude and refined shark liver oils imported by the United States last year and during the first quarter of this year, according to a report from the United States Department of Agriculture.

Total exports of refined shark liver oil to the United States last year were 3,743,000 pounds, valued at $6,434,116. Crude shark liver oil from Canada to the United States totaled 92,000 gallons, value of which was $436,826.

Imports of refined shark liver oil in the United States for the first four months of this year have been considerably lower than during the corresponding months of last year. It is reported Canadian, Cuban, Argentine and Australian shipments have been lagging, while shipments from Norway have been higher than a year ago.

Imports of crude oil in the United [illegible] nearly four times greater than those of a year ago. Most of the increase is due to shipments from Norway and Denmark.

FISHERMEN PIONEER

Fishermen at Eden, New South Wales, Australia, are now pioneering what may be a major development of the fishing industry of that area. Their efforts are being conducted jointly by a fishing firm of Sydney, according to a report in the Canadian periodical Foreign Trade.

The plan is based on catching in commercial quantities such fish as sardines, mackeral, sprats, anchovies and tuna.

It is reported this type of fishing could supply all the canned fish Australia needs and provide a basis for a lucrative export industry. Tuna exports might become one of Australia's substantial dollar earners. The trade in frozen and canned tuna, it is estimated, could rise to more than $8,000,000 annually, and it is probable the first consignment of tuna will leave Australia this year.

STERNWHEELER SOLD

Sale of the old steamer Sicamous, last remaining link with the romantic days of paddle-wheelers on British Columbia's Okanagan Lake, by her owners, the Canadian Pacific Railway, was announced yesterday at Vancouver by George H. H. Baillie, vice-president of the Pacific region. Amount of the sale was one dollar.

The famous sternwheeler, tied up at Okanagan Landing since her last trip in 1935, will be moved early in October to the Penticton Pier. There, flying the checkered C P R house flag, she will serve as a museum and tourist attraction. The city of Penticton will undertake to maintain her present appearance.

The Sicamous was the last and most palatial of the passenger ships to operate on the 65-mile-long Okanagan Lake before the railroad [illegible] water transportation. She linked the main communities along the lake with a service that was unparalleled in its day.

FISH STOCKS UP

Stocks of frozen fishery products held in United States and Alaska cold storage warehouses on July 1 totaled 112,329,000 pounds, an increase of 22 per cent over June holdings, according to a report from the United States Fish and Wildlife Service. The current total also represents an increase of nearly 13 per cent over that of the corresponding period last year.

Farmers in Eastern Canada use 150 per cent more nitrogen fertilizers than they did before the war.

Nurses to Leave On Northern Trip

VANCOUVER, July 20 (CP).—It's into the trunk with the crisp white uniforms and on with the dungarees for two West Coast nurses off on an adventurous ten-month trip in icy northern waters

A few days ago Evelyn Hunter and Doreen Pendray had never met Now they will spend almost a year on a small United States medical [illegible] along the Alaska coast They leave at the end of July

Miss Hunter, a Vancouver nursing graduate, labels herself a "prairie sailor." She comes from Lacombe, Alta., and says that as a little girl she dreamed of living near the sea

During a year's nursing at upcoast Pender Island she spent all the time possible on the water, "in any kind of a small craft—even fishing boats." She heard of the medical mission and decided to dedicate her life to it.

Miss Pendray, while anxious to serve her profession, is agog with the call of adventure

"I've lived in Victoria all my life," she says, "so you can't blame me for being a bit excited"

She joined the crew after a meeting with Dr Lindsay McClenney, head of the mission and the ship Willis Shank

Both girls are shopping for comfortable shoes, and are in the market for hip boots and mukluks

"We'll certainly need them on the voyage"

As for seasickness, Miss Hunter feels she has enough sea experience to avoid it. Miss Pendray shrugs her shoulders

"That may be my first big adventure," she says

Youthful Redhead Is Top Executive of Jet Company

By MARIENNE IZSAK

Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, July 20 (CP).—"Cynthia Holloway, General Manager," is the imposing title on the door. If you walked into her office in London you would find a vivacious 27-year-old redhead seated behind the desk

She is general manager of Power Jets, a British concern responsible for many war-time developments in jet-propulsion and gas turbine engines

"I was rather a dunce at mathematics and science in school and yet here I am with a job like this," she laughs

The "job like this" is one that requires her to travel all over the world, acting as liaison officer for her company, talking with engineers and urging co-operation between Britain and other countries developing gas-turbine engines She was interviewed the other day in New York

The secret of her rapid climb to success?

"I was lucky," she confesses "My employer was in the Air Force and I had been in the W.A.A.F., so that gave us something in common He was very helpful—instead of simply telling me what to do, he'd explain how it should be done and why

RAPID PROMOTION

After her discharge from the Air Force, Mrs Holloway got a job with Power Jets as secretary Being a young company with lots of room for advancement for those with ambition, it promoted her rapidly

Mrs Holloway manages to combine successfully her career with her home-making Her husband, a water-transport engineer, helps with the cooking, marketing and housekeeping in their apartment in Chelsea

"He's really a better cook than I am," she acknowledges "although I'm better at making soups"

She is amused at people's reaction in the United States when they find the general manager of Power Jets is a personable young woman

"They expect to find a portly gentleman along the line of Colonel Blimp, I guess," she smiles "But men in England aren't surprised—they got used to working with women in all sorts of jobs during the war"

Mrs Holloway finds her job too intensive to permit hobbies "But I did make this hat—the frame came from Paris and I sewed the ribbon on it" The hat was made entirely of lavender ribbons and she wore a pale lavender dress to match

"I'm afraid I'm just not the domestic type I love my work too much," she said in mock sorrow.

Divorce Rate Lower in Prairie Provinces Than Rest of Canada

WINNIPEG, July 20 (CP) Prairie families live and play together more than families in other parts of Canada, and that is one of the main reasons why prairie marriages are long-lasting say authorities on domestic problems

In Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba the divorce rate is only about three-tenths of one per cent of the population—lower than in any other part of Canada, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics has reported.

"I think prairie marriages are longer and happier than in other parts of Canada because most people live in small communities or in the country," said Miss M L Moore, director of Winnipeg's Family Bureau.

"Out here our families stay together as units Divorces are always more numerous in large industrial cities like those in Ontario In those cities members of families are not together as much as they should be"

Miss Moore cited better housing conditions in the West as a factor in healthier marriages

Dan Young, administrative officer of Winnipeg's juvenile and family court said home life "is a frugal thing at best" in Eastern industrial centres

"Families there live at too fast a pace to enjoy home recreation" The West's lack of entertainment spots make for quieter living centred about the home

With true Western hospitality, the family man here is more apt to invite his friends to his home for an evening than to "go cavorting around night spots," said Mr. Young

The membership of the club num- [illegible] are requested to obtain their new membership cards in order to be eligible for voting in the coming elections.

Parents are invited to attend the club's dances and to give their opinions to the supervisors

FRESH ASPARAGUS, BROWNED BUTTER CRUMBS—One pound asparagus (about 12 medium-thick stalks), ½ cup boiling water, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 4 finely crushed salted crackers (about 1-3 crumbs).

Cut off the whitish tough ends from the asparagus so the stalks are an even length. Peel the stalks right up to the tips with a razor-like vegetable parer to remove woody outer covering and scales Wash under cold running water with a spray or scrub tops gently with a vegetable brush. Place in a [illegible] same direction, then add boiling water Bring rapidly to a boil again, then reduce heat and cover, but keep water bubbling vigorously. Cook until tender, about 10 minutes or more Watch carefully. If heat is too high water will evaporate too fast and asparagus will burn. Strain off any small amount of liquid in skillet. Add 1 tablespoon of the butter or margarine and run it over asparagus stalks with a fork so it will melt. Cover skillet tightly. In another small skillet melt the remaining 2 tablespoons of butter or margarine. Add the cracker crumbs and brown lightly over moderate heat, stirring constantly. Sprinkle browned crumbs over lower part of stalks but not over tips Serve at once. Makes 2 ample servings

No salt is called for in cooking the asparagus because usually the salt in the cracker crumbs and the butter or margarine is enough.

Ballet Nickname Is Given To Jitterbugging Parisians

By JACQUES ARMAND-PREVOST

PARIS, July 20 (AP)—French bobby-soxers are called "existionalists" not because they follow Jean Paul Sartre's philosophical doctrine, but because they first met in the Saint-Germain-des-Pres district where Sartre has his headquarters.

In this old-fashioned part of Paris you can see young boys and girls dressed in corduroy jackets. They wear long hair and plaid skirts The girls have little makeup and [illegible] long and straight.

It is mostly at night that you meet them because most of them work in daytime They are students, artists and some girls are mannequins But all of them have a joint and distinctive feature, their love for the jitterbug and the be-bop. They meet at night in cellars. These stuffy and smoke-filled hide-outs have been turned into clubs The main clubs are the "Club de Saint-Germain-des-Pres," the "Club du Vieux-Colombier" and the "Rose Rogue" (the red nose).

In the first one, Boris Vian is operating Vian plays a jazz trumpet and also is a writer

His dancers, all of them amateurs, [illegible] asked to give exhibitions at charity affairs. They call themselves the "petits rats of Saint-Germain-des-Pres" In French a "petit rat" (a small rat) has nothing to do with this animal, it is only the nickname of the young ballerinas in the beginning class of the opera ballet.

Tourists pack the clubs to see them dance, and it is a sight. The dancers are young and they swing their girls over their heads while the band plays the latest be-bop.

At the Vieux-Colombier, Claude Luter plays first trumpet and rivals Vian. The employees and members of these two spots each insist theirs is the best. Sometimes members belong to both just to make a comparison [illegible] is having fun, As they say in French they are "Mordus" (bitten) by the jazz music.

The clubs are not so wild as some people think they are They close at 3 a.m.

Men From City Going North On Hunt for Explorer's Body

The story of Franklin's exploration trips to the Arctic has become almost a legend. It is one filled with gripping suspense, horror and hardship.

His third and last voyage to the northland of this continent started from Greenhithe on May 19, 1845. Purpose of the trip was to discover the Northwest Passage, and the two ships were victualled for three years, and equipped with every appliance then known.

MYSTERY MANY YEARS

The ships were last seen at the entrance to Lancaster Sound on July 26 of that same year. It was 14 years before the mystery of their subsequent movements was solved.

Franklin's instructions were to push through Lancaster Sound and Barrow Strait as far as Cape Walker, and then southwards, with the alternative of Wellington Channel, if navigable.

No news of their progress reached England, and from 1848 onwards a series of expeditions was sent to search for them, which between them, explored thousands of miles of Arctic territory.

The first traces were found in August of 1851, at what was known to have been Franklin's Winter headquarters at Beechey Island.

In 1854 a Dr Rae, on a sledging expedition from Repulse Bay learned from Eskimos that some white men had been seen dragging a boat southward along the west shore of King William's Island. He also obtained from them some articles which were later identified as belonging to members of Franklin's expedition.

In 1855 a party went down the Mackenzie River in canoes, and established the fact that men of Franklin's party had made an attempt to reach the Hudson's Bay Company settlement by the Fish River route.

FATE DISCLOSED

It was in the Spring of 1859 that the grim fate of Franklin's expedition was disclosed. In addition to skeletons and other remains on King William's Island, and reports from Eskimos at Boothia, a record was found in a cairn at Point Victory telling the the history of the expedition up to April 25 of 1948.

In 1845 and 1846 the ships—Erebus and Terror—had Wintered at Beechey Island, on the southwest coast of North Devon. Franklin had navigated Peel and Franklin Straits southward, but had been stopped by ice coming down M'Clintock Channel—which was then unknown.

On a margin of the written record was seen a notation to the effect the ships had been deserted on April 22, 1848, after having been frozen solidly in ice for nearly two years. Franklin, it was said, had perished on June 11 of 1847. The total loss of men up to that date was listed as nine officers and 15 men.

MEN LOST STRENGTH

It was recorded that an attempt had been planned for the survivors to head for Back's Fish River. Strength of the men must have failed. An Eskimo woman said later she had seen them stumbling over the ice wastes, falling and dying. The world will never know the suffering and hardships through which those men passed.

Whether or not the Victoria men will be successful in their quest is something that only time will tell.

$1,700 Needed To Put Fund Past Objective

Maj. C. J. Milley, and other officials of the Salvation Army's Red Shield campaign are keeping their fingers crossed. Another $1,700 will put the $30,000 objective over the top.

There are still several contributions expected from various companies and organizations within the Greater Victoria area, and it is hoped some citizens will come to the aid of the drive and make contributions.

Maj. Milley explained that due to the shortage of canvassers, certain residential areas were not canvassed. Citizens who have not been approached by Red Shield canvassers are asked to send donations to the Public Relations Department, Salvation Army, 757 Pandora Avenue.

A sum of $22,000 will be used for regular social work of the Salvation Army for the forthcoming year, and any amount over that has been earmarked for assisting elderly and needy citizens. Tentative plans have been made toward establishment of housing accommodation for such senior citizens.

MINOR BLAZE

A small rubbish fire at 878 Leslie Drive was quickly brought under control by Saanich firemen last night after slight fire damage was done to the fence surrounding the property.

Further Work On P.G.E. Line Expected Soon

Provincial Government will be calling for tenders on the next stage of construction of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

It was learned yesterday that specifications for clearing and grading of the 14-mile section leading north from Cottonwood Canyon are almost ready.

Work on the first section, from Quesnel to Cottonwood is already started. Cost will exceed $600,000.

The section from Cottonwood Northward is expected to be considerably more expensive, however, because of more difficult terrain.

One of the most difficult projects is bridging of the canyon itself, which for long has provided a major obstacle to railway extension.

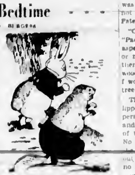
Little Stories for Bedtime

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

PETER'S ADMIRATION IS UNBOUNDED



"Well," said Paddy with twinkling eyes, "what do you think of it?"

It was several days before Peter Rabbit again got over for a call on Paddy the Beaver. You see, Peter couldn't be everywhere at once. Certainly not. No one can be everywhere at once. And there was so much going on these busy Fall days that Peter almost ran his legs off trying to see everything. A great many times he wondered what Paddy would do next now that he had made his pond as big as he could and still those aspen trees were too far from the water to be cut and hauled in safety.

At last he found a chance to run over to see what Paddy had been doing. It was nearly evening, and quite dark in the depths of the Green Forest. As he drew near Paddy's pond he heard a sound that for a moment startled him. It was the crash of a falling tree. There was no wind, and so that tree could not have been blown over. Then Peter remembered.

"Of course," said he to himself. "Paddy has begun cutting those aspen trees. No one but Paddy or man can cut down a tree, and there wouldn't be a man in the woods at this time of day. Besides I would have heard chopping. That tree was cut down by Paddy."

Then Peter ran faster than ever, lipperty-lipperty-lip, lipperty-lipperty-lip, through the Green Forest and at last came out on the shore of the pond of Paddy the Beaver. No one was in sight. He could see the roof of Paddy's house standing out in the water, but there was no sign of Paddy.

"He's over among those young aspen trees," thought Peter, and hurried on. He ran across the top of Paddy's dam and around the shore on the other side until he was nearly opposite the little grove of young aspen trees he knew Paddy had set his heart on having for food during the Winter. Suddenly right in front of him he saw a little ditch of water. It was a very nicely made little ditch. The earth was piled neatly along side. Peter knew what it was. It was a canal, a new canal dug by Paddy the Beaver.

Peter turned and followed the canal, hopping along the bank. It led straight toward those aspen trees. When he reached the end he was right at the edge of the little grove, and there, just as he expected, was a newly fallen tree and Paddy hard at work cutting off the branches. Peter looked at Paddy, then at the aspen trees, and finally at the little canal at his feet. In his eyes unbounded admiration grew and grew. He understood now what Paddy's plan to get the water near enough to those trees after his pond had stopped spreading in that direction. It was the digging of that canal.

"Well," said Paddy with twinkling eyes, "what do you think of it?"

"I think it is wonderful," sighed Peter. "However did you think of it?"

"It is my business to think," replied Paddy quietly. "If I didn't use my head a little I would starve to death or else furnish a good dinner for Old Man Coyote. By the looks of things I shall have plenty to eat this Winter if Jack Frost doesn't freeze the water before I can get this out to my food pile in the pond. I haven't got any time to waste, that is certain." Paddy fell to work again, and Peter sat down to watch and admire.

Next Story: Peter gets a lesson in logging.

At the Theatres

ODEON THEATRE The Blue Lagoon is based on the famous best-seller novel by Stacpoole. In rich and glowing Technicolor, this film can be best described in Director Frank Lander's own words. "A simple, sentimental and beautiful romance." Co-starred are Jean Simmons and Donald Huston.

DOMINION THEATRE Three stars, Virginia Mayo, Zachary Scott, and Dorothy Malone top the cast of Warner Bros.' swiftly-paced drama, "Flaxy Martin." Adapted from a David Lang novel, the play reveals the operations of a shady gambling syndicate and its grip on the lives of three individuals.

ROYAL THEATRE Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers are reunited in M-G-M's blazing Technicolor musical, "The Barkleys of Broadway." Combined with this famous team of terpsichore are many brilliant musical scenes including Tschaikowsky's B Flat Minor Concerto with Oscar Levant on piano accompanied by a 100-piece orchestra.

FOX THEATRE Another pleasing feature, "The Luck of the Irish," starring Tyrone Power and Anne Baxter.

HARVEST PREPARATIONS

BRANDON, Man. (CP)—Employment officials are already busy lining up a force of workers for Prairie harvesting. They have asked farmers to apply for harvest help by mid-July so that their needs will be known in advance.

India has at present 100,025,000 people under a system of controlled distribution of food grains.

Yanks Shell Feller; Trim Cleveland, 7-3

Bombers Add Full Game to Leading Margin—Giants Set National League Scoring Mark

The American League pace-setting New York Yankees temporarily turned aside the challenge of the Cleveland Indians yesterday, blasting Bob Feller from the mound in the third inning and going on to a 7-3 victory over the Tribe. The win, before the biggest night attendance in any ball park this season—75,270—put the Yanks four and a half games in front of the second place Cleveland squad.

Joe DiMaggio and Yogi Berra led the assault on Feller, both hitting home runs. It was DiMaggio's seven round-tripper since returning to the Yankee line-up on June 28.

BOSOX SLIP

Boston's third-running Red Sox slipped eight and a half games off the pace when they dropped an 8-7 decision to the revived Chicago White Sox. It was the Chisox' seventh victory in their last 11 starts. Ted Williams hit his 22nd homer for the Bosox.

Detroit Tigers crept within half a game of the idle fourth-place Philadelphia Athletics by edging Washington Senators, 6-5.

New York Giants stole the spotlight from Brooklyn and St. Louis in the National League.

The Durochermen defeated Cincinnati Reds, 5-1, and set a league record by scoring in the first three innings to run their scoring spree through 14 consecutive innings. It bettered the previous mark of 12, set by the Giants of 1923.

CARDS GAIN GROUND

Ralph Kiner did Brooklyn Dodgers no good as he belted his 25th and 26th home runs of the season. His second of the game came in the ninth with two mates aboard to give Pittsburgh Pirates an 8-6 victory over the Dodgers.

Lou Klein's tenth-inning double, scoring two runners, gave St. Louis Cardinals a 6-4 triumph over Boston Braves, enabling the Redbirds to cut a full game off Brooklyn's pace-setting margin. The Cards are now just two and a half games behind the Dodgers.

Hammerin' Hank Sauer drove in all Chicago runs with two homers and a triple as the Cubs defeated Philadelphia Phillies, 4-3, in 11 innings.

Chinese Students all but clinched a play-off berth and kept alive their hopes of getting third place in the final standings of the Senior "A" Men's Softball League by halting a ninth-inning Brentwood rally to preserve a 9-8 decision over the second-place Suburbanites at Upper Central last night.

The result left Students two full games ahead of the cellar-dwelling Bluebird Cabs with each club having only two games left on its schedule. Chinese can sneak into third place by taking both their remaining contests if Timber Service drops its final game.

PITCHERS PARADE

Six pitchers—three for each club—paraded to the mound in the interesting contest with Stan Tenning getting credit for the victory and Rom Knott being charged with the defeat.

Although the teams committed ten bobbles between them, the large crowd was delighted with the continual changing in the tide of the game and by several spectacular catches in the outfield.

Students won the game in the eighth inning when singles by Jimmy John, Quinton Mar and Tenning, three stolen bases and two errors gave them three runs to break a 6-6 deadlock.

ACES THREATEN

Trailing 9-7 entering the bottom of the ninth, Aces threatened to pull out the decision. Gil Sluggett led off with a home run and singles by Kelly Slater and Ronnie Benn left the tying and winning markers on bases with none out.

Bill Benn flied out and Frank Kilshaw drew a walk, after fouling off eight pitches, to fill the sacks. Ronnie Benn was out at the plate attempting to come home on a short passed ball, and Brian Sluggett grounded out to end the game.

Jokers Stave Late Threat By Pro Patria

Jokers Selkirks defeated Pro Patria, 9-8, in a junior section box lacrosse game at Stevenson Park last night. Winners were pressed throughout final stages.

Both teams played under handicaps. Jokers had only two spares and Pro Patria was without its regular goalie, and was forced to use forwards. Bud Leonard took over the chore in the first quarter but gave up in favor of Rolf Jewell for the remainder.

Alan Husband and Des Corry paced Jokers scorers, each with three goals and one assist. Lorne Oakley tallied two markers for Vets.

Winners led all the way, scoring three in the first quarter to Pro Patria's two. Each team had two goals in the second and third quarters.

Palace News defeated Beavers, 10-8, in the preliminary juvenile game with a wild burst of scoring in the final quarter that netted them four goals against losers' singleton.

The senior Jokers and Tillicums will tangle at Stevenson Park today at 6.45 p.m.

Ike Williams 1-2 Choice Over Bolanos

LOS ANGELES, July 20 (INS)—Ike Williams, 26, one of the greatest lightweight champions in history, puts his title on the block tomorrow against a determined foe—Enrique Bolanos of Durango, Mexico.

The meeting will be the third between the two fighters, and 24-year-old Bolanos hopes it will be the charm.

In the first battle, on April 30, 1946, Williams scored a T.K.O. in the eighth round. Last year the two staged a torrid tiff with Williams awarded a split decision over the 15-round route.

Latest odds favored Williams at a price of 1 to 2.

Soccer Acrobatics by Italian Star

One of star acts of Milan (Italy) soccer team, now visiting the United States, is displayed by Benin Lorenzi, rugged man with steel-ribbed back. When Benin wants to reverse his field, he does it as illustrated in above picture. He doesn't turn around, but throws kind of half-somersault, booting ball over his head and landing on his back. Milan team, substituting for Turin team, all of whose members died in air crash, played New York All-Stars and American All-Stars in New York recently.

Burnside Man Survivor In B.C. Bowling Singles

VANCOUVER, July 20 (CP)—With six competitions narrowed down to the semi-finals, and all other events well advanced in the knockout stages, the 27th Annual Lawn Bowling week passed the halfway mark today.

A total of 136 bowlers participated in the Seaton open singles all day to a straight knockout contest, and also in its subsidiary competitions, the Sparling and Masterman singles. By nightfall each of these three events had been narrowed down to 16 survivors, and out-of-town players still left in are H. Keech of Powell River; C. E. Dickinson of Bellingham, E. Robinson of Berkeley, J. Cramb of Powell River, and R. Fletcher of Powell River in the Seaton event.

In the Sparling singles W. Tyler of Powell River; G. Patterson of Penticton; T. Cannan of Burnside, Victoria; J. Nesbel of Merritt; C. I. Dickinson of Bellingham, and J. Boardman of Penticton still survive.

In the Masterman singles, W. Woodburn of Penticton, S. Sharp of Kamloops, K. Dunlop of Powell River, J. Smith of Portland, P. Welch of Vernon, and R. Pratt of Seattle live to fight another day.

Bob Fletcher's Powell River squad reached the Nelson rink semi-finals by beating Wally Kenmuir's Vancouver South quartette, 16-14, in a second-round game last night.

No out-of-town pairs survive in the Oakland doubles, which has also reached the semi-final stages.

W. Keig of Powell River reached the semi-finals of the twilight triples, but C. I. Dickinson of Bellingham lost to R. Coulter of the Vancouver club, 13 shots to 23.

Jack Boardman of Penticton was eliminated from the Chambers (champion of champions) singles when Fred Ellis of Kerrisdale downed him 21-13 last night.

United States bowlers will take the Robert Gray Memorial Trophy back across the line with them, as they regained it last night by defeating Canadian rinks in the annual international match by 50 shots to 43.

Returns Saturday

DAVE COOPER

Dave Cooper, who has been holidaying for past two weeks, will be back at wheel of his No. 8 car in regular weekly meet at Langford Speedway on Saturday. Les Wallischen, of Seattle, is bringing back his speedy No. 9 car which placed third last week under guiding hand of Ernie Spaulding.

Seeded Players Advanced In State Meet

SEATTLE, July 20 (AP)—Five favorites advanced to the men's singles quarter-finals in the Washington State tennis tournament today.

Jim Kroesen, third seeded, from San Francisco, had the hardest time, finally defeating unseeded Lefty Eden of Seattle, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2.

Results included:

Top seeded Emery Neale of Portland defeated Carl Linden, Seattle, 6-1, 6-1; and Fred Lewis, Salt Lake City, 6-0, 6-0. Bob Lewis, Fred's brother, defeated Woody Heron, Seattle, 6-4, 6-4.

Glen Bassett of U.C.L.A., seeded second, played a third-round match, defeating Steve Heron, Seattle, 6-2, 8-1. He meets Seattle's Ken Clegg tomorrow, the winner advancing to the quarter-finals.

Larry Doby Given Fine

CLEVELAND, July 20 (AP)—Centrefielder Larry Doby of the Indians was fined tonight after he made a futile attempt to steal home in a game with the New York Yankees.

Manager Lou Boudreau, who did not disclose the amount of the fine, told reporters:

"It was based not only on that attempt to steal home tonight. Larry has taken several unnecessary chances lately. This should make him more careful."

Doby tried to romp home from third in the eighth inning with the bases loaded and nobody out. But Joe Page, the Yankee pitcher, whirled and threw to catcher Yogi Berra. Berra tagged Doby as he dove head first across the plate.

Assures Pole Sitter Of Early Descent

CLEVELAND, July 20 (AP)—Cleveland Indians' staunchest follower had the personal assurance of Manager Lou Boudreau that he can desert his flagpole perch soon.

Charley Lupica, the druggist who vows the won't leave his aerial seat until the Indians are in first place, is 37 today.

Last night, Boudreau gave him a pre-birthday call to cheer him up.

"You'll be down pretty soon," the Tribe manager promised.

And after the Indians whacked the Yanks 5-4 yesterday, they are only 3½ games behind New York.

When he climbed on his pole outside his drug store, May 31, the team was in seventh place.

Jockey Downed After Fight

MONTREAL, July 20 (CP).—One jockey was set down and another drew a $50 fine at Blue Bonnets Race Track here yesterday when they tangled in a brief brawl after the feature King's Plate trial.

The fisticuffs didn't bother the riding ability of Apprentice Jockey Sammy Chiapetta; he promptly went out and won the sixth and seventh races. Previously he had won the fourth race for three winners on the day.

Chiapetta tangled with Frankie Mann when the latter accused him of crowding him around the last turn in the fifth race. Words followed and finally blows. Neither jockey placed in the race.

Chiapetta was fined and Mann set down for the balance of the meet.

Fletcher's Men's Shop captured the play-off title in the junior section of the Minor Baseball Association by defeating Ace Woodworkers, 3-1, at Macdonald Park yesterday.

Doug Stewart got the win for Men's Wear, hurling a two-hitter. Ron Smith went the distance for Woodworkers.

County Cricket

LONDON, July 20 (Reuters)—The four matches which comprised the current county cricket program will have no immediate effect on the leadership in the county championship race.

Worcestershire, standing leaders, is engaged in a friendly match against Devon, Yorkshire is playing the Army and Middlesex is without a fixture.

Sixth-place Warwickshire, which with Surrey, is 13 points behind Glamorgan, lost its opening bat, F. Gardner, against Gloucestershire without a run being scored, but then A. Townsend and K. Taylor put on 77 for the second wicket to remedy matters.

Tonight's score card:

Gloucester: Warwickshire 400 for nine; Gloucestershire to bat.

Maidstone: Kent 314; Leicestershire 143 for two.

Nottingham (Rain): Essex 245 for six; Nottinghamshire to bat.

Taunton: Derbyshire 379; Somerset 33 for four.

Hull (Rain): Yorkshire 140 for four; the Army to bat.

Paignton—Devon, 163; Worcestershire 101 for five.

Dorchester—Lancashire, 134; Dorset, 136.

North Shore Takes Lead In Dominion Cup Soccer

VANCOUVER, July 20 (CP)—North Shore went one up on Vancouver City in the Dominion soccer competition (B.C. section) here tonight, edging the Greenshirts 3-2 before 1,500 fans. Second game goes Saturday afternoon and a win for the Reds will give them the title.

With both teams going all out, tonight's conflict was by far the best witnessed since the departure of the touring Newcastle United Club.

North Shore put on the pressure from the opening whistle and after City Goalie Ian Mackay had stopped two quick drives, Trev Harvey found the mark with a looping shot that just got under the crossbar. The goal came after 45 seconds of play.

City tied it up 15 minutes later when Gogie Stewart beat Frank Ashdown after the latter had dropped Ivan Carr's long lob.

Jimmy Spencer gave the Norsemen a 2-1 halftime lead, converting a penalty kick against Pat Philley for hands.

North Shore boosted the margin to 3-1 in the first minute of the second half, Dave Moyles scoring from an almost impossible angle.

From there on in, Vancouver City went on the attack and after several near misses, Red McMillan finally cut the lead in half, scoring with a hard shot from just outside of the penalty area.

Overlooked for All-Star Game, Heintzelman Boasts Best Mark

PHILADELPHIA, July 20 (AP)—Most pitchers slow down as they grow older. Not Kenny Heintzelman—he gets faster and better.

Kenny, the forgotten man of the all-star game, is no babe in arms to major league warfare. He's been around since 1937, but never before has Kenny compiled a record such as a 12-3, and pitched 26 straight scoreless innings.

But that's what Heintzelman, a tall southpaw from Perdue, Mo., who hurls for Philadelphia Phillies, has done in 1949—at the age of 33.

FIRST WINNING YEAR

Heintzelman never has had a winning record in the majors. Before this season, his best mark was 11-11 with Pittsburgh Pirates in 1941.

As far as Kenny is concerned, his success is largely a matter of speed.

"George Earnshaw (Phils' pitching coach) took me aside in Spring training," Kenny said, "and told me I ought to speed up my delivery."

"I used to waste a lot of time fidgeting around on the mound and giving the batters plenty of time to get set. Now I've gotten so I can keep them off balance."

Heintzelman, who always has had a strong fast ball, is throwing his speed ball with the best this season. It's alive and it's always hopping. And, as a result he hasn't been hit hard all season.

SHUTOUT STRING

Kenny ran his scoreless string to 26 Tuesday night in defeating Chicago Cubs 1-0. He set down St. Louis Cardinals by the same score in his outing before that. And he was a 4-3 winner over Brooklyn Dodgers in the game preceding that one.

The Dodgers' two runs came in the first inning.

That's the record Heintzelman has compiled since Billy Southworth, Boston Braves' manager who piloted the National League All-Stars, gave Kenny the cold shoulder in naming a seven-man pitching staff.

"I was sore and disappointed at first," Heintzelman said, "but I got over it in a hurry. You don't win ball games staying mad."

Victoria Athletics continued to build up their batting marks last night, reaching the usually stingy Lou McCollum for 15 hits, but time ran out before they could overcome an early Wenatchee lead as they bowed to the Chiefs, 9-7.

Chiefs reached Pete Vucurevitch for two runs in the first inning and built up a 6-1 margin in third with a four-run cluster after Charlie Balassi had put the A's on the score sheet with a home run in the top half of the inning. Ritchie Myers three-run homer was the big blow for the Chiefs.

VUCUREVITCH CHASED

A's scored three times in the fifth but the Chiefs matched the effort in their half to chase Pete Vucurevitch from the mound. Tobey Tobias and Frank Logue blanked Wenatchee the rest of the way while the A's pecked away for single tallies in each of the last three frames.

Balassi paced the A's attack with three for five to boost his club-leading average, while six batters picked up two hits each.

BEARS EDGE TABS

The A's retained a slim percentage margin on sixth place as the seventh-place Bremerton Bluejackets bowed, 3-3, in Yakima. Rookie Dave Dahle held the Bears hitless for five innings but weakened in the sixth and seventh.

Yakima's victory, coupled by Vancouver Capilano's split with Spokane Indians, stretched the Bears' lead to five and a half games over Caps. The caps copped the opener 6-3, and Spokane took the nightcap, 8-6.

Salem and Tacoma exchanged shutouts with the Senators taking the opener, 4-0, and the Tigers the nightcap, 3-0.

Hughes Retains Position In Canoe Race

LITTLE FALLS, Minn., July 20 (AP)—A bag of $8,000 in prize money is only 140 miles away from 28 teams in the Mississippi River Canoe Derby. They rested here tonight after completing a comparatively short 38-mile lap from Brainerd, Minn.

Gene Jensen and Tom Estes of Minneapolis, defending their title won last year, are still in the lead.

Eric Hughes, of Victoria, B.C., and Harold Westby of Bemidji, Minn., retained third place, 1 hour and 30 minutes behind the leaders.

Two Canadian teams have fallen by the wayside, but a third—Joe Perron and George Kelly of Minaki, Ont.—are in 12th spot.

The highly-regarded pair of Gerard Dufour and Jean Lemay of Shawinigan Falls, Que., were forced out because of Dufour's ailing back. They were in fourth place.

Yesterday, the Winnipeg team of Frederick and Robert Smart dropped out after both caught colds.

SASKATOON, Sask., July 20 (CP).—The Saskatoon Quakers of the Western Canada Senior Hockey League announced tonight the signing of several performers last year with Spokane Flyers in the Western International loop.

The Prairie club said Cy Rouse, Reg Bentley and Bill Snyder will perform for them in the 1949-50 season. Bentley was Saskatoon property last year but went to Spokane when Quakers were knocked from play-off competition early.

Set Macken, Rochon In Opening Matches

MONTREAL, July 20 (CP)—Rated Canada's foremost tennis aces, Henri Rochon and Brendan Macken of Montreal today drew starting assignments in tomorrow's opening singles matches of the North American Davis Cup tie against the confident Australians.

The draw pits Macken against Billy Sidwell in the curtain-raiser and Rochon against Frank Sedgman, 21-year-old rookie member of the Australian team, in the afterpiece.

Canada's best is not expected to be good enough to upset the sure-stroking Aussies who are overwhelming favorites to sweep the matches in straight sets. Macken now has displaced Rochon as the player most likely to make the strongest showing for Canada.

BROMWICH OUT

Jack Bromwich, wispy-haired 30-year-old playing captain, kept himself off the Aussie starting line-up. But the veteran Davis Cupper likely will get into action with Sedgman in Friday's doubles match.

Walter Stohlberg and Lorne Main of Vancouver, Canada's other color-bearers, also are slated for action later in the series. Stohlberg remains a strong choice as a partner for Macken in doubles. Main is a certain starter in one of two singles matches Saturday.

Gordon MacNeil of Montreal, non-playing captain, said he will announce Canada's doubles pair only after tomorrow's matches.

Better Golf

By SAM SNEAD

With all clubs cultivate the habit of a momentary pause at the top. Pictured is an iron shot. The grip has been firmly and well maintained. Notice that this club has been swung short of horizontal at the top of the backswing and that's correct with irons. Particularly with the No. 2, 4, and the more sharply lofted irons. Because your stance with irons brings your heels close together, your right foot nearer to the direction line than your left and is more open, the position of your body naturally limits the length of your backswing.

TAKE MORE TIME ON THE TURN FOR IRON SHOTS

Reaching a horizontal position at the top of the backswing can only be done with the longer shafted, straight-faced clubs and the stance you use with such clubs. And remember that the shorter the shaft, the more perpendicular the swing. With the shorter shafted clubs, the more open is the stance, the closer the heels are together, the closer the right foot is to the direction line, the more you bend over. Therefore, the more perpendicular the swing. It's simple when you understand it, isn't it? And it's more fun, too. Learn to play golf the right way. You'll score better—get more thrill.

✻ The Sportlight

By GRANTLAND RICE

Which is the main factor in sport competition—direct thought or the subconscious mind? How much success belongs to quick brain work and how much to intuition?

To help settle this issue we called [illegible] a [illegible] competitor at Fordham and who needs no further comment when it comes to a matter of brain action.

The subconscious mind, according to Mr. Kieran, "does most of the work. The brain can't work with the speed needed to handle too many situations. For example a jockey has less than a fifth of a second on many occasions to decide whether he must go inside or stay outside. A Ted Williams will often wait until the ball is within 15 feet of the plate before he decides to swing—or not to swing. That is another fifth-of-a-second decision.

"Some brains work faster than others. But there are few that can work with split-second speed in making a decision. Subconscious action takes over or intuition or whatever you want to call it."

AFFECTS RACING

Both Eddie Arcaro and Ted Atkinson beat out this angle in regard to racing.

"I'll be moving up," Arcaro said, "and suddenly there's an opening to the left. I haven't time to size things up. Your intuition acts for you and sometimes your intuition can be wrong. You can use your brain in mapping out a race in advance. But once you get into fast action, you've got to depend a lot on your reflexes or your intuition, which are the products of experience. In fact, I think this is where experience counts most. I mean in giving you the right intuition."

SLOWS WITH AGE

Boxing follows the same line. A younger fighter, in his prime, sees an opening and punches at practically the same instant. Or he sees a punch coming and ducks. Later on, he is just as smart. His brain is just as good as it was ten years before. But his subconscious action has slowed down, his intuitive action has gone rusty—so he punches for the opening too late or he doesn't quite duck in time.

Joe Louis had as good a brain in 1948 as he had in 1938. But though he kept catching Walcott in 1948 his subconscious reactions were too slow through most of the fight to land a knockout punch. In 1938, Jersey Joe would have known an intimate visit to the floor around the second or third round. As a result all Louis could do was to use up most of his energy in chasing his opponent and then letting him duck away before throwing a punch.

AS APPLIED TO GOLF

"Now golf is a game," J. Kieran continued, "that should be played with a subconscious mind entirely. But it isn't. The ball isn't moving so there is the deadly temptation to start thinking—what club to use, etc. This is when the trouble begins.

"Remember that round Watts Gunn had in the Amateur at Oakmont in 1925? I think Watts lost the first five holes. I know he was being murdered. Then suddenly he seemed to settle into a trance and he won the next 15 holes—15 holes in a row.

"I talked to him later and Watts admitted he didn't remember a thing that had happened in those 15 holes.

"'I never thought of anything,' he said. 'I just kept swinging the club head. I was in a sort of mental groove.'

"There was certainly no conscious effort in anything Gunn did. He went sailing through until he met Bobby Jones in the final round, where neither conscious nor subconscious effort was of any use.

WRECKS BEST GAMES

"Direct thought or brain action has certainly wrecked many a round in golf," Kieran continued. "If a fellow could just step up to a ball and think about nothing at all as he swung the club head, scores would take a terrific dive.

"Certainly one of the reasons leading golfers today are turning in so many low scores is that they are first of all practising so much, playing so many shots over and over, that the game has grown largely automatic. They can trust their subconscious mental action. This was especially true of Ben Hogan, the hardest worker I've ever seen swing a club. Not so many are willing to work that long.

WORKS IN REVERSE

"Here's another thought along these lines," Mr. Kieran reported. "I've known a lot of baseball and football players. Many of these—not all of them—I wouldn't call too smart. I wouldn't say their brains were too agile, although they had their share of good sense. I've seen these fellows make few mistakes. They were generally where they should have been. Some instinct seemed to guide them. I know it wasn't sharp thinking.

"On the other hand, I've known extremely intelligent players (I mean intelligent off the field) who always seemed to be pulling some boner or doing something wrong. Maybe they were trying to think in place of giving the subconscious side a chance. But there is very often a big difference between being smart on the field and smart off the field. Intelligence and competitive instinct can be wide apart."

Sport Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—Word from London is that Freddie Mills is waiting for an offer to go to the United States to defend his world light heavyweight title against Joe Maxim in September. . . . When Jake Mintz, Ezzard Charles' manager, heard that the London promoter, Jack Solomons, claimed Ezzard would have to go to Britain to fight for the heavyweight "title," Jake cabled: "Keep your title, we're doing okay here." . . . When Hal Gregg, who "retired" when the Pirates shipped him to San Francisco, was talking to a Pittsburgh writer last Spring, he remarked: "You know, when you figure it, baseball takes a lot of a fellow's time." . . . How else does he expect to get this pay cheques?

HOLE IN ONE?

During the recent Dapper Dan golf tournament—renamed the Damper Dan after three days of rain—open champion Cary Middlecoff picked a spot for some practice shots only to find Skip Alexander driving from an elevated tee right above his head. . . . "I'll be safe here, won't I?" Cary asked. . . . "Sure," replied Skip. "But if I should accidentally miss one I'll be tied for 12th place instead of 13th."

Seeks Meets For Japanese

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—Masaji Kiwyokawa, Japanese national swimming coach, yesterday began a round of conferences aimed at the restoration of his country as a world swimming power.

Kiwyokawa, who arrived Monday, made his first call on Dan Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States.

He also scheduled an early visit to New Haven, Conn., to see Robert Kiphuth, swimming coach at Yale University, and mentor of many U.S. Olympic swimming teams.

Kiwyokawa told Ferris the Japanese were anxious to take part in the 1952 Olympics at Helsinki, Finland. Toward this goal Japan has reorganized its National Swimming Federation and has been conducting events to develop potential champions, Kiwyokawa said.

FIRST TUNA

WEDGEPORT, N.S. (CP)—The first fisherman, apart from local guides, to land a tuna this season was Alfred P. Trask of Yarmouth, N.S. After a 40-minute battle he landed a 507-pound bluefin.

Humber Sure Canadian Athletes Will Do Well at Empire Games

Arthur Bruce Humber of Victoria, 34-year-old coach of Canada's track team for the British Empire Games at Auckland, N.Z., doesn't figure his charges will have any trouble with New Zealand's grass tracks.

A change to grass from cinders they've been used to, he said in an interview, "won't be any disadvantage [illegible] will be a little slower. But it will be the same for everyone."

Humber has had plenty of experience with grass tracks in Victoria "and I've found they're fine. As a matter of fact, they're easier on the feet than cinder tracks."

Humber, who's been around the track sport since 1927 and who has several sprint records to his credit, is pleased with the selection of the Empire Games Committee.

"I feel the officials did a fine job in selecting the team, representing as it does almost every part of Canada. And I feel sure this team will uphold Canada's good record in British Empire competition."

POSER ON CONDITION

The only thing he's worried about is keeping his team in shape on the long boat trip. "The big problem . . . is to keep the team in condition—mentally right so that they don't lose their edge . . . and [illegible] working harmoniously.

"All a good coach can do is try to get the best out of the team by welding it into a unit and to take care of his athletes as well as possible." He knows half the runners personally—the ones from British Columbia.

ST. CATHERINES, Ont. (CP)—Bill St. Amand, 10, was thrown from his bicycle and rolled beneath the entire length of a car. But his only injury—apart from brush burns—was a huge tear on the seat of his pants.

According to Culbertson

Perfect play, based on a shrewd and accurate reading of what an opponent could and could not hold, gave today's declarer his game contract.

The bidding

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass

West mentally flipped a coin between a heart and a diamond opening, and selected the former, leading the eight-spot. It was a lucky guess inasmuch as it gave the defenders at least a chance to defeat the contract. East collected two heart tricks and then returned the heart ten. West ruffed and exited with a trump. (He was naturally reluctant to lead away from the club king, and he did not want to reveal anything by playing a diamond.) Declarer drew West's remaining trumps, while East discarded two hearts and a club.

Now South took stock. Having lost three tricks, he would be in great danger of losing the contract if the diamonds did not break 3-3. Knowing that this perfect break of the missing diamonds was against probabilities, South decided to protect himself if he could. One thing he was sure of: East, who had shown five hearts to the ace-king, could not also have the club king, because he certainly would have opened the bidding with that holding. There was a chance, however, that he held the club jack, and if he also had the diamond stopper, everything would be fine! So, before testing the diamonds, declarer led the club queen through West. The king and ace covered and declarer then cashed two more trumps, discarding his own club eight. The last trump was East's Waterloo—he had to give up the club jack, making dummy's ten good, or abandon his diamond stopper.

5 IN MEMORIAM

HARRIS—William John Harris, aged 20. Died on July 20, 1940.

Dear Billy,
Years roll on, but memories stay, as near and dear as yesterday.
—Ever remembered by your loving cousin, Charlotte.

PATTERSON—In proud and loving memory of our dear son, Bob Patterson, P.O., R.C.N., lost at sea July 21, 1947.

Loving memories are the lamps
That light the darkest road,
To the beautiful land of reunion,
When we meet at the end of the road.
Surrounded by friends we are lonesome
In the midst of our joy we are blue,
With a smile on our face we've a heartache
Longing ever Bob for you.

How we miss you, Robbie.
—Proudly remembered by his Mum, Dad, brothers and sisters.

3 BEDROOMS—OIL HEAT
A $14,000 home at a bargain price. High location. Sea view. Open to offers around $11,000. Owner leaving city. Half cash

Dear Hans:
I have misplaced your address and phone number so hope you see this. The apartment conversion you requested me to enquire about is now a listing at $11,500 and it is very nice inside, having Pembroke baths and gas stoves in each unit. It is hot-water coal-stoker heated and each suite has 3 rooms. There are 6 separate garages. All of the occupants have been there a long time and the caretaker, who is an excellent person doing a good job for only $10 reduction in rent, says it is a very quiet, refined atmosphere always. The rents are controlled and very low, but you could make application to have them raised on the basis that they are lower than similar accommodations. They are at present $38.75, $36.50, $40.25 and the caretaker's at $30 less $10. The taxes are approx. $246. Tenants pay own gas and electricity, having separate meters. Basement contains separate lock-up rooms for tenants' storage. I hope you see this before someone else comes along and buys it.
Regards
Bill Rauptfleisch

MR. PILE SUFFERER

READ THIS: Mr. G. Pugh, 550 Agnes St., Winnipeg, writes us June 8th, 1949.
"My wife has been on operating table 13 times—she has really suffered. I myself have had bleeding piles for years—after three bottles of your new Pyltone Treatment we are nearly well. We are between 60 and 70 years old. It is worth any price because it is wonderful." Pyltone satisfied Mr. Pugh as it will you. The first bottle of Pyltone Treatment brings results or price refunded at once. $1.75 at all druggists.

Desert Love Song

By VIDA HURST

CHAPTER XIV

That smile between her fiance and the woman her father hoped to marry was a shock to Marjorie Wainwright. Barry had been introduced to Helene less than three hours ago. Their only private conversation had been during a single dance. Yet the glance Margie had intercepted was one of complete understanding. Why? Was it because each recognized in the other an equal sophistication? Or were they equally amused at her rather childish explanation of her reason for sending flowers to the mother of Philip Vance?

Barry said, "Spare us the details, sweet! I am not jealous at this point. Not with our wedding day practically upon us."

Margie wondered how she could get herself so involved when she desired their immediate marriage just as much as Barry did. Yet how could she marry him unless she was sure that Helene would take over the responsibility of her father's convalescence?

"When is it to be?" Helene in- [illegible]

Barry said, "Tell the lady, darling, or did you lure me down here on false pretenses?"

It wasn't fair for him to pin her down like this. He had promised to spend Christmas with them before she had told him she would be free to marry him.

"When are you and Maxwell going to be married?" Margie retaliated looking the widow straight in the eye

Helene murmured, "Really, our case has nothing to do with it. Your father has been too ill to think about wedding plans"

Max said gallantly, "I'm ready any time you are, my dear!" If that's what these children are waiting for"

The reluctance in Helene's face was too obvious to be ignored.

"Let's dance!" Barry suggested. As soon as they were far enough away not to be overheard he asked, "What's going on here anyway? I don't think she has any intention of marrying him."

"Evidently not. You see she didn't know he wasn't well until he had that stroke It was a very light one but there is always the possibility of him having another"

"On the other hand he may live for years before he has another one," Barry reminded her. "You certainly aren't going to delay our marriage on that account?"

"Just for a little while, darling until he's feeling better. I really can't desert him now if Helene throws him over"

"Let's get out of here," Barry suggested, guiding her toward the door which led into the cocktail lounge. Here in a dimly-lighted corner he pleaded, "This can't go on indefinitely. What do you expect me to do?'

"Please be patient a little longer. The season here is over by the first of April. Things will be settled then one way or the other. At least he'll know the score where Helene is concerned. I'm sorry," she cried, seeing the disappointment [illegible] have told you they were going to be married then you wouldn't have expected anything"

"I suppose it doesn't matter one way or the other to you?"

"It certainly does. I've never been so unhappy in my life as I've been since I left Chicago. I hate Tucson. I'd like to leave here tomorrow. Oh Barry, I've really been homesick for you"

"I might have believed that if you hadn't introduced me to that synthetic cowboy."

"He's not a cowboy. He owns his own ranch and works on it but he is nothing to me. Absolutely nothing," she declared desperately.

"Then why did he show up the first night I am here? Calling you away from our table and coming back with you to look me over?"

"He doesn't know we're engaged," she said indignantly.

No sooner had she spoken these words than she would have recalled them but it was too late Barry pounced on them like a cat who had been watching a mouse hole.

"So that's why he acted so possessive? He is hoping to marry you himself."

"Barry, you are imagining the whole thing. There is nothing to it. I've only been out with the man once and that was because he wanted me to meet his mother. She used to be quite a celebrity and she likes to meet people."

He said grimly, "You'll pardon me, I trust, for not swallowing that one. I'll admit you are probably the most delectable girl in Tucson from a masculine point of view but you aren't exactly a celebrity."

"I didn't say I was. I know it sounds silly but she did seem delighted to meet me. She asked me to come again for lunch but I couldn't because of Maxwell. He had his stroke the very day I went to the ranch."

"Which was the same day you wrote me we could be married any time."

"Yes, but I wrote that earlier in the day, Barry. I explained that to you"

"You've explained nothing All I know is that for reasons of your own you've decided to postpone our wedding."

"Have it your own way," she sighed and at that moment the church bells began to ring It was Christmas

B.C. Government Buys Indian Girl's Paintings

Colonist Photo.

In fitting move coinciding with the attainment of full political status by Indians of this Province, Provincial Government this week purchased five of paintings of Judith Phyliss Morgan, 19-year-old Indian girl, who has been attending Alberni Residential School. Five will be part of 20 of Miss Morgan's paintings going to National Museum, Ottawa, for one-man show. Left to right, above, are Miss Morgan, George Sinclair, arthritis-crippled artist who gave young painter her first art lessons; and Willard Ireland, Provincial archivist and librarian, who chose paintings for a permanent niche in archive's hall of artistic fame.

B.C. Soldier Visits Dieppe; Finds His Own Grave There

A poignant episode during the sixth anniversary of the landing of the Canadian forces at Dieppe is told in a letter from England to a Victoria woman.

The letter describes the feelings of a British Columbia soldier who took part in the annual "Canadian Pilgrimage" from the United Kingdom to the French cemetery where the Canadian soldiers who died at Dieppe lie buried.

The soldier, Nelson Longeuay of Vancouver found his own grave among the rows of markers at Dieppe.

An illustration from a French newspaper sent with the letter shows Longeuay kneeling before the cross marked with his name.

GRAVE OF COMRADE

The grave, it is explained, is that of a comrade who was killed in the landing. He was bearing letters addressed to Longeuay at the time of his death—thus the mistake occurred.

But the marker has since been changed to read "unknown."

The story reaches here as preparations are being made for the seventh pilgrimage to Dieppe in honor of the Canadian war dead who fell in the fighting area there.

The writer, in describing the ceremonies, says that it is a holiday in the region when all turn out to do honor to the memory of Les Canadiens.

PLANES DROP FLOWERS

Last year, she states, planes flew over and dropped flowers on the graves during the memorial services.

She expresses a hope that some fund will be made available so that relatives in Canada may be able to take part in the Canadian pilgrimage.

This year the pilgrimage will take place on August 18 and Mrs. O. E. Wise, the writer, 16 Brangwyn Way, Patcham, Brighton, Sussex, is offering to place flowers and photograph graves for relatives here.

Relatives of men who fell at Dieppe are requested to write to her at the above address supplying all details.

Salvation Army Couple Posted Here From Africa

A Salvation Army couple, who have had 12 years' missionary service in West Africa, have arrived here to take command of the Victoria West Citadel.

They are Major and Mrs. George A. Voisey, who will succeed retiring Senior Major David Hammond.

The officers' last post was in command of the Yorkville Corps at Toronto where they were stationed [illegible] have been in the Salvation Army 26 years. They were nine years in the Maritime Provinces and one year in Bermuda, but this is their first trip to the West Coast of Canada.

WORK INCREASING

They left Canada to carry out missionary work on the Gold Coast of Nigeria, West Africa, in 1943. Stating that the work of the Salvation Army is ever-increasing, Major Voisey noted that "more and more the Salvation Army is being recognized as the leading social and evangelical organization in the world."

Dealing with his missionary work in West Africa, Major Voisey said he and his wife found that when the natives embraced Christianity their entire outlook on life changed. The Salvation Army, he continued, operated day schools on educational plans similar to those of Great Britain. These schools were conducted, he said, because to learn about the gospel the natives first must have the rudiments of an education.

PAGANISM WELL-ROOTED

The old paganism ideas are deeply rooted in most of them, according to Major Voisey, who stated it is a difficult task to change these people. However, if the chief of any tribe is taught and adopts the principles of Christianity, the major said the battle is half won.

Major Voisey said 22 African Salvation Army officers worked in his sector. For the first time in the history of the Gold Coast, in 1946, Africans had a majority in the Legislature at Accra, he related. King Prempeh of Ashanti visited the sessions that year, marking the first time in 200 years that an African king had visited the Legislature.

Inhalator Crew Called in Death

The inhalator crew, under Lieut. Hector McNeill, worked over the man for approximately ten minutes before he was pronounced dead.

RECENTLY RETIRED

He recently retired from the employment of the C.P.R. after 26 years' service with the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway.

Alberni Valley Children Attend Swimming Class

PORT ALBERNI, July 20—More than 200 Alberni District school children started to learn how to swim here on Wednesday morning. Realising the importance of swimming as a necessary part of every child's training, the Parent-Teacher Council of Alberni District, under the presidency of Mrs. C. Pineo, set about finding ways and means of providing a space where the classes could be held and the necessary swimming teachers found.

Members located teachers in the persons of Evelyn Roberts, Barbara Galliford, Ronald Bergren, Roland Tack, Jack McArthur and Kenneth Anderson.

They found the place at Smith's Landing through the courtesy of Bloedel Stewart & Welch, Ltd., which placed all the facilities of its park and the caretaker at their disposal.

Swimming classes have to be highly organized both for safety and the training of young children. They were fortunate in their choice of teachers, and equally so in the representatives chosen by each P.-T.A. in the district, who must be at the classes each Wednesday to assume responsibility for their areas. All were present Wednesday morning for this first attempt by a Parent-Teacher Council to foster such an ambitious program.

REPRESENT DISTRICTS

District representatives are: Mrs. George Williamson, Alberni; Mrs. G. McGarrigle, Port Alberni; Mrs. J. Brown, Sproat Lake; Mrs. N. Swanson, Cherry Creek and Mrs. G. Boguist, Redford Road.

John Mottishaw, chief forester for Bloedel Stewart & Welch, Ltd., was on hand to see the first organized movement for use of beach and other facilities provided by his company. Mr. Mottishaw, who made the original plans to establish the park on a bigger and better basis for the convenience of the public and as a community picnic ground, had even more smiles than the children. Transportation was in charge of Wallace Connorton of the Valley Transportation Company, and six trips were made Wednesday.

The Valley Transportation Company is arranging with the Public Utilities Commission to run regular trips to Smith's Landing.

Get New Truck

DUNCAN, July 20—The streets committee of the City Council accepted a tender of the Robison Service Station for a new three-ton chassis for the city garbage truck. The body of the old garbage truck will be transferred to the new chassis. Under terms of the deal the company has to take the old chassis in trade. It was purchased just after the war, and was never heavy enough for its duties, but it was the only one available when the garbage service was organised.

Duncan Alters Library Hours

DUNCAN, July 20 — The new Cowichan branch of the Union Library has been an outstanding success. Since the doors opened last Monday, a constant stream of subscribers has been making enquiries for books. Everything is running smoothly. Parksville Group Seeks Town Planning Activity

PARKSVILLE, July 20—A large number of residents from the eastern portion of the village attended the regular bi-monthly meeting of the Parksville Village Commission, held in Parksville School to accommodate the crowd. Residents had [illegible] proposal to extend Jensen Street to form a road running parallel with the Island Highway from Corfield Road to the southeastern boundary of the municipality. Opinions were mixed about the proposed road, and no decision was reached.

It was strongly urged by the gathering that a town planning commission be appointed to take care of the laying out of the village.

A petition signed by 26 persons from outside the eastern boundary of the municipality asked for connections to the municipal water main.

In response to a request from Mount Arrowsmith Branch of the Canadian Legion, it was agreed to [illegible] Avenue before August 6.

As a special service to residents, T. C. Hocking, village clerk, has been authorized to take applications for electric light service from the B.C. Power Commission.

Campbell River To Get Floats

CAMPBELL RIVER, July 20.—Dredging of the channel inside the new breakwater has been completed. Operations carried on by the North Western Dredge Company of Vancouver commenced on May 3, and it is estimated that approximately 6,300 cubic yards of sand was removed from the bottom of the channel, making it a depth of ten feet at all times.

Twenty men were employed on a two-shift basis. D. J. Wilson was superintendent of the operations. The dredge was towed to Nanaimo, where the company started work on the removal of Middle Rock.

A sub-contract for construction of floats and a small dock for fishing boats has been let to Frank Gagne, a local contractor. Work will commence about August 1.

Upon completion of a freight shed on the new wharf, official opening ceremonies of the breakwater and wharf will take place.

Chairman of the event is George Butler, and William Wheeler and Mike Malone are in charge of decorations and special effects. A Mainland newspaper has promised to provide a trophy and name a judge and other judges will be appointed by the committee in charge of events.

As the hall is to be decorated appropriately as a setting for the stone age, a plea has been made to the public for the loan of bear skin rugs, deer and bear heads. "Superman" has been asked to attend, and there will be a dinosaur on hand to provide thrills for nervous contestants.

Acquire Rooms

DUNCAN, July 20 — Duncan Aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles recently opened new lodge rooms in the Jaynes Building. High lodge officers from many Island points were present to pay their respects and to wish success to the lodge in acquiring its own quarters. Mayor J. C. Wragg welcomed visitors on behalf of the city, and praised the work that the various lodges of the district were doing.

Burglars Busy Around Duncan

DUNCAN, July 20 — Nine burglaries have been reported to Provincial Police since last Saturday. Money seems to be the goal of the thieves, since valuable merchandise was passed up in several of the premises forcibly entered. The sum of $107 was taken from Wilson Motors, Ltd., Government Street.
